

THE CITIZEN

Devoted to the Interests of the Mountain People

Vol. XVI.

Five Cents a Copy.

BEREA, MADISON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, JUNE 3, 1915.

One Dollar a Year.

No. 49.

Knowledge is power—and the way to keep up with modern knowledge is to read a good newspaper.

Does Your Wife Know Your Business?

The business of getting a living is your business. And the matter of keeping a clean house, and making the family happy and comfortable and respectable is your wife's business.

But the two go together. She can't get a meal unless you provide the stuff, and you can't get ahead much unless she manages the house right. The more interest you take in her work, and the more interest she takes in your work, the happier you both will be.

Not that either should over meddle. If she thinks a child ought to have the doctor you had better trust in her judgment. And if you think it is best to borrow money and build a barn she had better encourage and help you.

But some men seem to like to keep their wives out of their business. We never heard any good reason, but some men are that way. And they lose by it in two ways. In the first place they lose the sympathy and the suggestions of their wives. It makes a man wiser just to talk over his affairs with his wife. He does know about his business better than she, but it helps him to talk things over. She is interested, and she can work more happily if she knows how things are.

And in the second place, it helps when you come to leave your wife a widow. You are going to leave her some day—don't you forget that solemn fact. Now who shall tell her about the money in the bank, and the mortgage, and the things owing to you, and your plans for the cattle and perhaps the lawsuit? You don't want to leave her in the hands of lawyers and such. You should tell her about all these things and have her good and ready to take up business any day.

Berea Commencement Next Wednesday

June 9th will be one of the greatest days Eastern Kentucky has yet seen! One hundred and forty-five young people from Kentucky and adjoining states on that day complete courses of study at Berea.

There are brilliant exercises paving the way to the great day itself. On Saturday afternoon one hundred and thirty young people graduate from the Foundation School, and on Saturday night forty-five young people graduate from the Academy.

On Sunday will be the first great procession at 10:45 and President Frost's sermon to graduates. That night there will be an address before the religious societies. Monday and Tuesday all classes are open to visitors while oral examinations go forward. Monday night will be the second rendering of the great Harmonia Concert, so well adapted to these stirring times. "The Heroes of '76." Tuesday afternoon the Foundation School children give a pageant, and the Vocational graduates of former years hold a reunion.

Berea's great day is Wednesday with its procession at eight o'clock, to be followed in the Tabernacle by an exhibition from the different Vocational Schools—agriculture, carpentry, home science—followed by the pieces of the Normal graduates and then the College graduates. After luncheon will be addresses by distinguished men, chief of whom is Dr. A. W. Lamar, of Atlanta, Ga., whom all Kentucky is eager to hear once more.

The address to our literary societies, which was scheduled for Friday night, will be omitted this year. Our speaker will be unable to reach us.

The Dixie Highway Mass Meeting

Richmond and Berea Unite

Despite a smart downpouring of rain the Upper Chapel was filled with property holders and taxpayers on Tuesday night, every one of whom became an enthusiastic highway booster before the meeting closed.

Mr. Taylor, president of the Berea Highway Club, opened the meeting in a happy manner. Mr. Herndon was made chairman. In a most entertaining manner he told how the fight was won at Chattanooga for the Eastern Route and the necessity for united and continuous effort to carry the enterprise to completion.

Mr. Turley of Richmond gave the history of the movement and the

(Continued on page 5.)

THIS ISSUE

Did you know that in matter of improved prison management Kentucky is well in the lead?

That stripes have disappeared?

That at the national C. E. convention Kentucky was proclaimed by President Clark to set an example to other states in this matter?

Read Mrs. Day's article on page 2.

The Cincinnati Markets will be found on our Farmers' Page this week instead of on page eight. Don't fail to keep in close touch with the markets. It may save you several dollars.

CONTENTS

PAGE 1.—Editorial: Does Your Wife Know Your Business.—Berea Commencement.—War News.

PAGE 2.—Dixie Highway.—Prison Work at Frankfort.—Letter from President Frost.—Sunday School Lesson.

PAGE 3.—Mountain Agriculture.—My Week's Itinerary.—Live Stock Notes.—Dairying.—Markets.

PAGE 4.—Local News.

PAGE 5.—College News.

PAGE 6.—Serial Story: Waitstill Baxter.—Short Story.

PAGE 7.—Woman's Page.—Some Recipes.—Children's Column.—The Sandman Story.

PAGE 8.—Eastern Kentucky News.

IN OUR OWN STATE

Quarantine Lifted

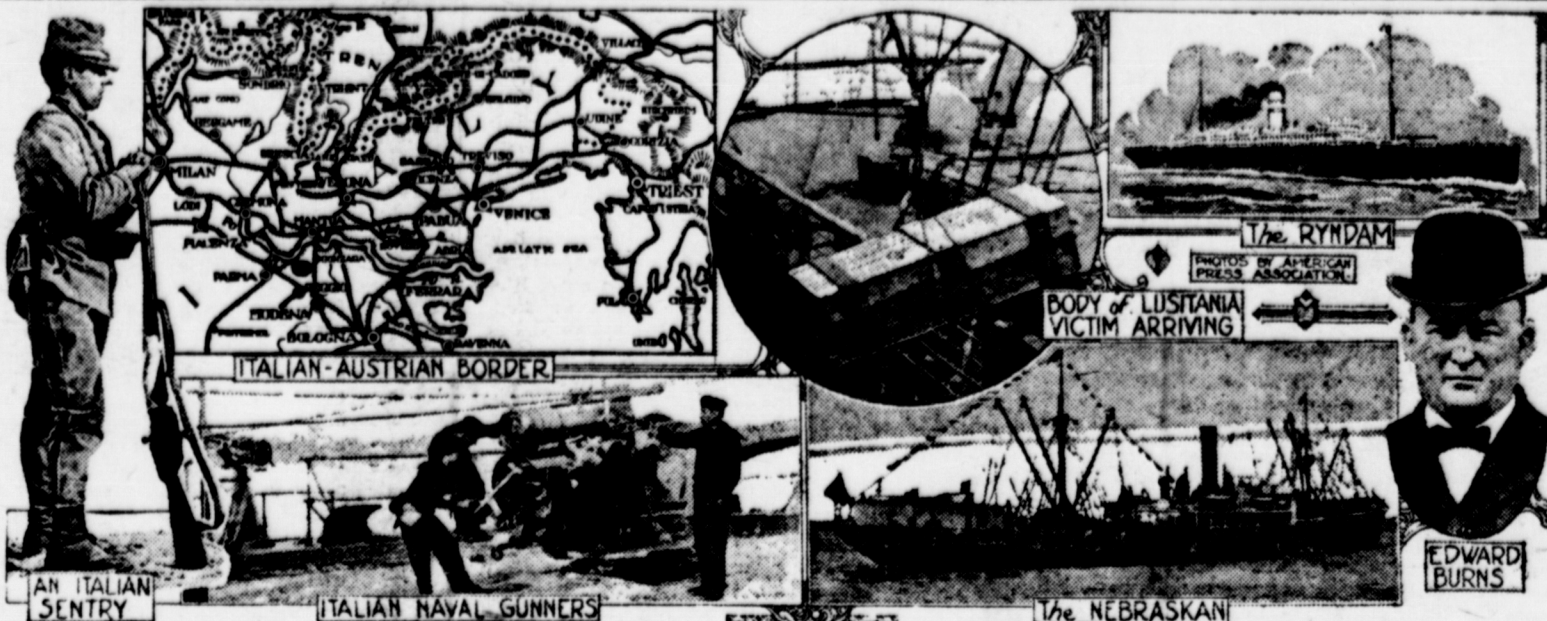

A report from Frankfort states the Federal foot-and-mouth quarantine has been lifted from every county in Kentucky, excepting Jefferson, Bullitt and Oldham, where the last outbreak occurred. Commissioner Newman received notification that Shelby, Henry, Meade, Scott, Woodford and Jessamine have been released, excepting premises where the disease has been.

Kentucky Forests Attractive to College Students of Forestry

The senior class of the Pennsylvania State College of Forestry that has been studying forestry in Breathitt County, has returned to the College Commencement. C. N. Anderson, who was in charge of the camp called on State Forester, J. E. Burton at Frankfort, and said the

(Continued on page Eight.)

THE CITIZEN

Commencement Day
ON THE CAMPUSOne Year, - $1.00
Six Months .60Don't fail to Subscribe
The Citizen is Your Paper
Ask the Agent About Our PremiumsNews Snapshots
Of the Week

After remaining neutral for nearly a year Italy at last plunged into war against Austria. Aeroplane attacks were made along the entire Adriatic coast by Austria's aerial fleet, bombs being dropped on Venice and other important places. Italy captured four Austrian border towns. The Nebraska, flying the American flag, homeward bound and empty, was hit by mine or torpedo in war zone, causing uneasiness in Washington. The Holland-America liner Ryndam was rammed in a fog off Nantucket shoals, and 230 passengers were rescued by United States warships, which answered wireless distress call. Bodies of Lusitania victims arrived in New York, that of Charles Frohman, theatrical manager, being among them. The verdict in the libel suit brought by Barnes against Roosevelt favored the latter. Edward Burns of the jury holding out at first for a division of costs between the two principals.

1855

1915

You are invited to attend the annual Commencement of Berea College

Wednesday, June 9, 1915

and preceding days, as follows:

May 29, Saturday—Memorial Day
Exercises by Training School	9:15
Memorial Address	2:30
June 2, Wednesday—Harmonia Concert	7:30
June 5, Saturday—Foundation School Graduation	2:00
Academy Graduation	7:30
June 6, Sunday—Sermon to Graduates	10:45
Address to Religious Societies	7:30
June 7-8, Monday and Tuesday—Oral Examinations
June 7, Monday—Harmonia Concert	7:30
(Repeated)
June 8, Tuesday—Foundation School Pageant	1:30
Vocational Reunion	7:30
June 9, Wednesday—Commencement Day
Procession	8:10
Graduation Exercises	8:30 to 12:00
Commencement Address	1:30
REV. A. W. LAMAR, D. D., Atlanta, Ga.
Dinner for Vocational Graduates and College Guests	6:00

College Graduates

NAME	B.P.	BIRTHPLACE
John Herbert Asher	B.P.	Asher, Leslie
William Jesse Baird	B.S.	Artemus, Knox
Willis Maxson Chambers	B.S.	Toronto, Kansas
Jesse Benjamin Collins	B.S.	Laurel Creek, Clay
Yeo Merrill Douglas	B.L.	North Freedom, Wisconsin
Dorral Flint	B.L.	New Holland, Ohio
Thomas Craddock Frye	B.P.	Martin, Lewis
Harold Wallace Hackett	B.L.	North Freedom, Wisconsin
Estyle Drucy Hanson	B.S.	Glades, Tennessee
Clarence Delbert Harrold	B.S.	Willmot, Ohio
James Elgan Hillman	B.P.	Herald, Virginia
Burbon Almer Martin	B.S.	Rapids, Simpson
Leonard Ephraim Meece	B.P.	Meece, Pulaski
Berlin Eldridge Rivenberg	B.P.	Franklin, New York
Dean Slagle	B.L.	Red Hill, North Carolina
Verne Corbett Smith	B.L.	St. Louisville, Ohio
Marshall Everett Vaughn	B.L.	Berea, Madison
Gettie Merrill Beem	B.S.	Pataskala, Ohio
Lillian Bicknell	B.L.	Berea, Madison
Frances Louise Bowles	B.P.	Conkling, Owsley
Bessie Cleo DeBord	B.P.	Walnut Grove, Pulaski
Alice Donegan	B.L.	Meridian, Mississippi
Margaret Eastland Dizney	B.L.	Jellico, Tennessee
Edie Marguerite Gray	B.L.	Sunbury, Ohio
Lucy Harriet Holliday	A.B.	Hazard, Perry
Nancy Jane Huff	B.L.	Leonard, Harlan
Sarah E. Rumold	A.B.	Shippensburg, Pennsylvania
Cora Shireman	B.S.	Wadsworth, Ohio
Lucy Emma Smith	B.L.	Gordon, Pennsylvania
Lillian Dean Stamm	B.S.	Wooster, Ohio
Florence Gregory Stevens	B.L.	Albany, New York

Normal Graduates

Chester Arthur Baker	Secondary	Ricetown, Owsley
James Garfield Durham	Initial	Sand Gap, Jackson
Burley Hoskins	Secondary	Hyden, Leslie
Homer H. Lewis	Secondary	Cutshin, Leslie
Richard Clarence Miller	Secondary	Teague, Whitley
John Napier	Initial	Hampton, Clay
James Edwin Parker	Secondary	Gray, Knox
Parnell Pickelsimer	Secondary	Hager, Magoffin
John Jackson Russell	Secondary	Mooreburg, Tennessee
James Earl Tate	Secondary	Daisy, Perry
Ralph Trosper	Secondary	Gray, Knox
Joseph Van Hook	Secondary	Ocala, Pulaski

Stella Haley	Secondary	Dayton, Ohio
Lydia Hatfield	Secondary	Kerby Knob, Jackson
Enola Idylwood Hill	Secondary	Gunter, Tennessee
Lennie Hollon	Initial	Campton, Wolfe
Lena Mae Howard	Initial	Laurel Creek, Clay
Arza Story	Secondary	Moodyville, Tennessee
Florence Elizabeth Tatum	Secondary	Berea, Madison
Carrie Williams	Initial	Berea, Madison

Academy Graduates

Martin Luther Ambrose		Conkling, Owsley
Thomas Wiley Baird		Lay, Knox
Isaac Anderson Bowles		Tyner, Jackson
Fletcher Y. Campbell		Hopkinsville, Christian
Roy Creech		Wooten, Leslie
Malcolm George Dingus		Dungannon, Virginia
Edgar Sevier Fraley		Wise, Virginia
Chauncy Barger Godbey		Middleburg, Casey

(Continued on page two)

WILSON WILL STAND FIRMWill Notify Berlin Note Was Not Satisfactory.

ENVOY TO VISIT PRESIDENT

Count von Bernstorff seeks interview before reply to German note is formulated—Believed course of action is decided.

Washington, June 1.—Strict adherence to the letter and spirit of President Wilson's last note to Germany, and prompt action, are predicted in official quarters here.

Not a single voice has been raised in administration circles to contend that the German reply to the president's note was in any sense satisfactory. It was clear that the president and his advisers regard it as wholly unacceptable, and may be counted on so to inform Germany.

The president has so far made no effort to learn the views of his advisers on the German note. The impression prevailed in official quarters that he already had in his own mind the kind of response which the German note merits, and that the end of the cabinet meeting will find the administration's course definitely decided upon. It is predicted by many that rejection of Germany's temporizing suggestions, and a repetition of President Wilson's demands will make up the note to be sent in return. The United States' reply will, of course, be expressed in the most polite language and most friendly tone.

While the president and the cabinet are expected to agree upon the next step to be taken with reference to Germany at the cabinet meeting today, it is practically certain that no action will be taken until after Wednesday, when Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, has arranged to discuss the situation with the president. This announcement of an interview between the president and the German ambassador was the most important news development of the day. The ambassador indicated to Secretary Bryan that he would like to have an opportunity to talk over the situation with the president at the latter's earliest convenience and an appointment was made for noon Wednesday.

It is understood that the ambassador is not acting on any specific instructions, and has no new proposals to make of a character affecting directly the vital issues between the German and United States governments.

Such a reflection of public opinion as reached the White House seem to indicate that such a response to Germany will be supported by this country. The president's statement made in his speech at Arlington cemetery yesterday afternoon that it is the duty of the government to express the "hope and purpose" of the United States was regarded as indicating his appreciation of the rights of public opinion and as indicating that he will withhold action until he has gauged public sentiment.

The fact that the German ambassador is seeking light on the exact relief which the president has in mind, is at least an encouraging sign.

The German view, which will be presented to the president, is that the United States can ask only that its citizens be secured in their right to go to Europe in safety. This proposition will be followed by the statement on behalf of Germany that certainly the United States would not expect

(Continued on page Three)

AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASE DESTROYEDItalians Are Within Ten Miles of Trent.

RUSSIANS ON OFFENSIVE

Declare Austro-German Advance Not Only Checked, but Are Falling Back Under Pressure of Czar's Troops—Artillery Duel on Yser.

Paris, June 1.—The Austrian war office has admitted that the Italian troops have pressed forward to the Lavarone plateau, which dominates the city of Trent, only ten miles away. The account says that the encounter on this elevated stretch of land, where there are Austrian fortifications, was a fierce one which resulted in a slight reverse to the Italians. The fact that the Italians are so near Trent, however, is regarded here as highly significant, and is an indication that the bombardment of Trent itself may be expected very shortly.

Reports reaching here say that the Austrians are doing their best to terrorize the population in that region, even threatening to place the inhabitants in line of the Italian guns if a bombardment of the city is begun. Five hundred persons, including women, are said to have been put to death on one pretext or another.

Further to the north Italian troops have penetrated to the town of Paveggio, according to Vienna reports, where they appeared in considerable strength. Paveggio is but a few miles east of the railroad which runs from Innsbruck through Bozen to Trent. This railroad is the main course of Austrian supplies for Trent and its capture at a point in the neighborhood of Paveggio would consequently mean the isolation of Trent. It is therefore apparent that the Italian general staff, by an enveloping movement, is attempting to deprive Trent of its source of supplies in the north, while preparing to attack it in strength from the south.

The war office has announced a successful bombardment of the arsenal at Pola, the Austrian naval base on the Adriatic, by an Italian dirigible. Bombs were dropped on the railroad station and on oil reservoirs.

The Monfalcone shipyards were bombed by a torpedo boat flotilla, great damage being done and several barges laden with flour being sunk.

The official report of the Russian general staff asserts that the entire German and Austro-German movements in the eastern field of the war are not only checked, but that in many sections where a week ago the Russians were falling back they have now assumed the offensive.

They are continuing the pressure in the Shavil region up near the shores of the Baltic; they are taking prisoners in the Piltza river region southwest of Warsaw. The Lubaczowka river northeast of Jaroslavl and southeast of Siennawa has been crossed and the towns of Monasterzh captured, while in the southern field the checks administered have resulted in the capture of many Austro-German prisoners and machine guns.

The official communique was as follows:

"Along the Yser canal there was an artillery duel.

"In the region north of Arras we made progress in Souchez-Ceancy road. We took the Malon mill and some German trenches which extend from the mill to the sugar factory

(Continued on page Seven)

BEREA COMMENCEMENT, JUNE 9

The Citizen

A family newspaper for all that is right, true and interesting.

Published every Thursday at Berea, Ky.

Berea Publishing Co.

(Incorporated)
WM. G. FROST, Editor-in-Chief
C. H. WERTENBERGER, Managing Editor
F. O. BOWMAN, Assistant Manager

Subscription Rates

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE
One Year $1.00
Six Months 60
Three Months 35

Send money by Post-office or Express Money Order, Draft, Registered Letter, or one and two cent stamps.

The date after your name on label shows to what date your subscription is paid. If it is not changed within three weeks after renewal notify us.

Missing numbers will be gladly supplied if we are notified.
Liberal terms given to any who obtain new subscriptions for us. Any one sending us four years' subscriptions can receive The Citizen free for himself for one year.
Advertising rates on application.

MEMBER OF

KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION.

No Whiskey Advertisements!
No Immodest News Items!

IN THE GREEN MOUNTAINS Letter from President Frost

My third son, Norman, whom many in Berea will remember as a boy, a student, and a member of the College Band, is superintendent of schools in Vermont, and I spent two days with him last week. Much of his work is interesting and suggestive to all rural teachers.

He is superintendent for three townships, each with its separate school-board of three trustees. The three townships contain about 1000 children, a high school with village grades employing fifteen teachers and twenty-five teachers in the surrounding country. Each township has its own selection of text books, furnished at public expense. Attendance is compulsory, and when necessary the children are transported to school at public expense. Vermont is determined that every child shall attend school. In one case a man is actually paid a dollar a day for bringing his little girl four miles over a bad road to school and taking her home at night!

One district contains only eight children, six in one family. Several schools contain less than fifteen. These are the difficulties of a scattered mountain population.

He goes about in an auto when roads are good, and on foot when they are bad, and knows every one of his 1000 children by name except a few of the very youngest.

The pay of teachers is from $8 to $12 a week.

The work of rural supervision of this careful line is quite new so that young Frost is a pioneer in a fresh and important field. It is to be noted that the superintendent is not a politician elected by the people, but a trained man from outside selected and appointed by a responsible board.

Vermont was the birthplace of Dr. Pearson, Berea's great friend, who did so much for the mountaineers of Kentucky and the South. I shall get a picture of the house in which he was born.

The rocks here are largely granite and marble.

Vermont Mountains are higher than Kentucky Mountains, but not crowded so thickly together. The soil is not so good as in the Kentucky Mountains, and of course the season is shorter and the winter colder. The mountain man in Vermont has a snug house, and joining the house a woodshed of enormous size, and joining the woodshed a big manure barn. He raises Morgan horses, Jersey and Holstein cattle, oats and potatoes and apples and rosy cheeked children and makes maple sugar. Hurrah for the Mountains!

THE RELIGIOUS-EDUCATIONAL WORK IN THE STATE PRISON FRANKFORT, KY.

1914

By Mrs. M. B. R. Day

"They are slaves who fear to speak."

"For the fallen and the weak."

Twenty-three years have passed since I awoke to my responsibility to the prisoner.

My first efforts in their behalf were to improve the physical condition in our prison—poor sewerage, poor heating, ventilating and crowding, were sending many men to their graves—from tuberculosis and kindred diseases.

Our Sinking Fund Commissioners who managed the prisons then were very busy men, and could not give it much attention, and our prison ranked among the lowest in this country, along the line of prison reform.

With a few faithful helpers we struggled along a few years with a Sunday School—but illiteracy—among the prisoners, was so great at that time that it made the work very discouraging. Many mountain men and boys had never heard of the Lord's prayer, and very few could read.

Eighteen years ago we organized the "Christian Endeavor Society" in prison. At first the white society insisted upon having separate meetings and refused to unite with the colored society, but that has all passed away, and now they have grown very helpful to each other.

When I first organized these Christian Endeavor Societies I had to perform the duties of president, secretary and musical director, but they were so ambitious to fit themselves for these positions that it was wonderful how quickly they learned with no books but the Bibles, (which I supplied), and sentence prayers which I would write for them.—truly "The entrance of Thy Word giveth light". Illiteracy has decreased greatly.

The mountain feudists (of whom we have many) are a very interesting class. One who looked like a mere boy told me quite boastfully that he "came to prison for helping to kill two neighbor boys, and had two more to kill."

When I expostulated with him, he said—"O, they owed us four corpses—having killed four of my father's brothers, many years ago, and I promised my father on his death-bed to see that this debt was paid."

Like the Highlanders of Scotland, these feuds run through many generations. This mountain boy, who had such a busy time ahead of him, when asked if he could read, said "No ma'am; I don't know nothin'—I ain't never had no chance". I supplied books and writing material—and his progress was wonderful—his thirst for knowledge exceeded any I've ever known,—except other mountain boys of this pitiful class, who "ain't never had no chance". He became a most efficient, faithful worker in our C. E. Society—and after nearly nine years in prison I induced our governor to pardon him. He went into an adjoining State, worked all day and went to night school, and later to college, and was finally ordained a Baptist minister. He writes me that he often thanks the Lord for his term in prison.

Many of the members of our Christian Endeavor Society who have gone out are now Christian workers on the outside. They have had no training except what they received in prison. I still receive letters from some who went out eight or ten years ago, telling me that they are still faithful to their pledges, and grateful for the teaching I gave them. And are prosperous and happy.

Before we can obtain a parole for a prisoner, we have to provide employment for him. I've never asked for a parole or pardon for a man until he has shown by several years of faithful service in our Christian work that he has turned to the better life.

Of the many, many men for whom I've been able to secure pardons, not one has ever returned to prison, which we regard as a wonderful record, as so many of the unconverted do return for a second or third term.

I regret that these considerations have not had any weight with our prison officials, of the past.

It is estimated that ninety out of every one hundred prisoners come to prison as a result of drink. Many of them tell me that giving up the use of tobacco relieved their feverish throats and took away their thirst, thus proving an old proverb that "Tobacco creates an island in the throat that has to be washed down with liquor."

We have two large American flags on our chapel walls, made entirely of small temperance pledge cards, signed by our C. E. boys.

The tales of woe that have been poured into my ears would fill a volume—so many bitter regrets, and blinding tears, that I've sometimes felt that my "wells of sympathetic tears" would be exhausted.

It takes much moral courage to work and teach in prison, and courage on the part of the prisoner to attend these services, for in all those years of discouraging, depressing work I knew I was regarded as a fanatic, my work was ridiculed, and had no encouragement from prison guards, and officials, who declared that they had no faith in the professions of prisoners, and yet the guards often admitted to me that "my men gave them no trouble", meaning the members of our Society.

Rev. D. L. Moody gave the first large box of books for our library, which from gifts, gate fees, and a small State appropriation, is now a fairly good library.

I have had great assistance in religious and educational work from Henry Youtsey, a highly educated young man who has served fourteen years in our prison. He has always called my educational enterprises in prison the "Day Institute", but

Commencement of Berea College

(Continued from first page)

Benjamin Earl Hammond	Salsville, Magoffin
Moss Hilliard	Bells, Tennessee
Carl Howard	Layman, Harlan
Robert L. Hughes	Green Hall, Jackson
Marion Hunt	Cynthiana, Harrison
Leonard Wesley Menzie	Oberlin, Ohio
Morris Archer Phillips	Wildie, Rockcastle
Robert Richardson Summers	Burkeville, Cumberland
Wilbur Tucker	Parksville, Boyle
Carl E. Vogel	Cold Spring, Campbell
Henry Mark Wesley	Middleburg, Casey
DeWitt Wolfe	Dungannon, Virginia
Myrtle Baker	Big Hill, Madison
Anna Katherine Baugh	Berea, Madison
Mable Bicknell	Berea, Madison
Fidella May Brown	West Milton, New York
Helen Bush	Cincinnati, Ohio
Ora Marie Carpenter	Middletown, Ohio
Elma Forrester	Harlan, Harlan
Esther Gentry	Island City, Owsley
Alice Fern Golden	Petersburg, Illinois
Frances Carolyn Lauder	Cincinnati, Ohio
Eva Bell McDaniel	Uree, North Carolina
Jewel May Ogg	Berea, Madison
Lillie Rean Ogg	Berea, Madison
Ruth Naomi Porter	Toboso, Ohio
Susan Caroline Porter	Cincinnati, Ohio
Lois Etta Robinson	Wagersville, Estill
Bertha Seale	Major, Owsley

Edward Cook	Sturgeon, Owsley
Edward Rowland East	Mill Springs, Wayne
Antonio Macias y Martinez	Santiago, Cuba

Lena Marjorie Byers	Rockville, Indiana
Juanita Garriott	Carrollton, Carroll
Viola Gilmer	Hansonville, Virginia
Ina Clare Harrison	Fearis, Lewis
Nannie C. Horner	Cold Spring, Campbell

Vocational Graduates

William Ballinger	Wildie, Rockcastle
Robert O. Bowman	Bakersville, North Carolina
Lindley Lee Carter	Booneville, Ohio
Burdette Chesnut	Hiatt, Rockcastle
Prewitt Harris Davis	Lexington, Fayette
I. Winfred Deaderick	Knoxville, Tennessee
William Almond Dean	Clover Bottom, Jackson
Fitzhugh Lee Draughon	Hindman, Knott
Luther Frank Fielden	New Market, Tennessee
Benton Fielder	Iron Mound, Estill
Robert Marvin Hannah	Nellie, North Carolina
Howard Hayes Harrison	Berea, Madison
Ulysses Grant Huff	Leonard, Harlan
James Leonard Jones	Kerby Knob, Jackson
John Riley Jones	Kerby Knob, Jackson
Edwin Lewis Killen	Trinidad, Colorado
Homer Davis McCann	Tarboro, North Carolina
John Will McCann	Lickburg, Magoffin
Archie Estes McGuire	Hiatt, Rockcastle
Ray Maharg	Mt. Vernon, Rockcastle
Mack Morgan

Elton Eugene Aveline	Boise, Idaho
Robert O. Copeland	Monterey, Tennessee
John Crosetto	Bradwood, Illinois
James Toke Fairchild	Lakeville, Magoffin
William Fairchild	Lakeville, Magoffin
Robert Eugene Ford	Fidelity, Illinois
Walter Graham Fulks	Hinesdale, Hart
John Maltaw Hall	Viper, Perry
Ernest McCubbin	Hammonville, Hart
Andrew McKinney	Roan Mountain, Tennessee
Jesse Aaron Wiseman	Ingalls, North Carolina

Dahlia Ruth Ambrose	Berea, Madison
Imogene Best	Maysville, Mason
Lillian Gouffon	Knoxville, Tennessee
Anna Bell Griffith	Ford, Clark
Kathyrine L. Harwood	Berea, Madison
Sarah Elizabeth Jones	Kerby Knob, Jackson
Lou Phillips	Wildie, Rockcastle

Annie Ingram	Buckhorn, Perry
Evelyn Ethel England	Oneida, Clay
Margaret Margrave	Endee, Owsley
Mollie Pearson	Alcorn, Jackson
Marian Blanche Wolfe	Clinchport, Virginia

Edward Rowland East	Mill Springs, Wayne
George Washington Everett	Belleville, Canada
Myron F. Grote	Vanceburg, Lewis
James E. Wynn	Leonard, Harlan

Mildred Hudson	Lynn, Massachusetts
----------------	---------------------

after receiving a very generous contribution from Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, Sr., I insisted that it be called the "McCormick Institute."

A little more than a year ago, during an absence from home, I received a communication from our Governor saying that the "Lord had at last answered my prayers, and given us the prison warden that I had been praying for so long." I thanked Him many times since for our warden and present commissioners, for they have been a great blessing to our prison.

(Continued on page Six)

THE DIXIE HIGHWAY

The action of the Fourteen Commissioners appointed by the Governors of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, and Florida at Chattanooga on Saturday May the 22nd is of incalculable and far reaching benefit to the Counties of Eastern Kentucky. The Eastern branch of this great highway from Chicago on one of the Great Lakes in the North will run through the Counties of Rockcastle, Laurel, Knox and Bell through East Tennessee, central Georgia, and Florida and is usually spoken of as running from the Lakes to the Gulf. Most of the Counties through which it was located except the four above mentioned already have more or less good roads and have enjoyed them for some time. Bell County under the progressive leadership of Judge T. A. Asher is pushing the work on the highway through that County and it is now in order for Rockcastle, Laurel and Knox Counties to proceed at once to do likewise. The location of the Highway through these Counties was on the condition that the road through them should be completed within one year or by May 22nd, 1916. It is up to these four counties therefore to begin at once and to push the work to completion. All of these four counties have voted by large majorities, bonds to build roads and it was upon the pledges from these counties that the Commissioners agreed to locate the Highway thru them and over the Eastern Route. The State road law requires that for a county to participate in the distribution of the State road fund its roads shall run from the County seat of that County to the County seat of the adjoining County. Each of the four counties under discussion, by building the Dixie Highway first under the State Aid Law is entitled to receive from the State Fund an amount equal to what they spend on the highway whereas if they do not connect up with the road from the County seat of their adjoining county they cannot participate in the distribution of the State road fund. It would be folly for any one of these counties to use the money derived from the sale of its bonds to build short lines out a few miles from its County seat without extending them to its line and connecting with a good road from the County seat of its adjoining county. It is much better and of more benefit to all these counties to have the great highway run through. It will enhance the value of its lands by inviting the travel of outside people of large means. It will give the citizens of these counties a great highway North through the Blue Grass region and South through the best section of Tennessee. It is in the air and it is confidently predicted that the next National Congress will take up the matter of Federal Aid to Interstate Highways and that the Dixie Highway will be one of the first to receive aid from the National Government. This alone is sufficient reason for making the Dixie Highway first in the work of road making. Finally the location of the Highway through Eastern Kentucky is only conditional and any county on the line which fails to build its part of it within one year will not only lose the great Local, State and National benefits to be received therefrom but will cause the Commission to relocate the highway through some other section of our State.

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

EVEN THE UNDERTAKER.

A certain temperance lecturer at one point in his address is in the habit of taking out his gold watch and saying, "I will give this watch to anyone present who will arise and tell me one class of people in the world that has ever been benefited by the saloon."

He made that offer all over this country, and no one ever took it up, until one gentleman stood and said: "I think I can tell you one class."

"What's that?"

"The undertaker."

My friend was about to unchain his watch and hand it over, when an old man arose and said: "Hold on! Before you give away that watch allow me to say that I have been the undertaker in this community for 35 years, and I have buried a great many of that kind of people; but whenever I am called upon to lay away an old soak or any member of his family I always know it's a charity job; that I shall never get the money. I should be much better off today if I had never had to bury one such case."

TROUBLE FOR J. BARLEYCORN.

There is a doughty fellow, prime favorite and boon companion of our ancestors, who is "getting in bad" with the present generation all over the world. His name is John Barleycorn.

Peace and war, foreign climates and lands at home, all alike spell trouble for John. In the United States he dodges around the corner at the mention of votes for women, and has been evicted from several states where women do not vote. In Russia, he is exiled on the plea of military necessity. In Germany he finds himself out of favor with the kaiser; in France he is jailed on suspicion of lack of patriotism; in England he is tolerated chiefly that he may be taxed, and is dubbed a lowbrow, even then.—Chicago Journal.

COST TO THE GOVERNMENT.

Writing on the question of revenue, sometimes a disconcerting one to temperance advocates, Daniel A. Polling, superintendent of the citizenship department of the Christian Endeavor society, aptly points out that the fact that the voting out of the saloon has never been responsible for the raising of taxes anywhere suggests the real answer to this question. "When the American government," says Mr. Polling, "once measures the almshouses, reformatories, asylums for the insane and penitentiaries for the criminals, and the indirect cost in impaired efficiency, broken character and sterile homes, it will strike forever from the lips of its people this cup of economical and financial woe."

CRIME PRODUCER.

Liquor is the greatest of all crime producers. Out of 1,150 prisoners in the prison at one time, 963 were either drinking or were drunk at the time of the crime, or the deed was planned in a saloon. Two hundred and twelve out of 226 cases of murder were due to liquor.—Rev. Orville L. Kiplinger, Chaplain of the Indiana State Prison.

"DRY" TOWNS SCORE HIGH.

Out of fifty-three high school teams at Stanford, Cal., that competed for athletic honors, the six that scored highest came from "dry" towns. At the interscholastic field meet, at Berkeley, same state, sixty-seven high schools were represented, and their three leading teams were also from "dry" towns.

LABORING MEN PROSPER.

"Do more laboring men own their homes now than under the saloon regime?" This was one of sixteen questions sent to fifty cities and towns of Tennessee some time ago. The replies showed an increase of 48 per cent in the number owning their own homes since prohibition went into effect.

A PATRIOTIC DISTILLER.

No, he is not an American, hyphenated or otherwise; he is Prince Obolenski of Russia, and he thus declares himself: "Serious as the matter may be for us if drunkenness can be eradicated we distillers are in duty bound to welcome the reform and make every sacrifice for it."

MAKING PROGRESS.

In 1896, with a population of 6,000, New York had 32,257 saloons. In 1914, with a population of 10,000,000, the state had but 23,473 saloons, an increase in population of 4,000,000 in 18 years and a decrease of 8,784 saloons for the same period.

FUNCTIONS OF BRAIN.

The last formed and highest function of the human brain, called consciousness of right and wrong, is the first to become palsied from the toxic action of alcoholic spirits. This palsy is a feebleness to recognize the ethical relation of life and surroundings.—Dr. T. D. Crothers.

TIME WASTED.

There is no use wasting time on any young man who drinks liquor, no matter how exceptional his talent.—Andrew Carnegie.

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By E. O. SELLERS, Acting Director of Sunday School Course of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago.)

LESSON FOR JUNE 6

NATHAN REBUKES DAVID.

LESSON TEXT—II Samuel 11:2-12:7a.
GOLDEN TEXT—Create in me a clean heart O God.—Psalm 51:10.

This is a lesson that demands great care in its presentation and treatment, which will differ widely according to age. For the younger the briefest sort of statement that David fell in love with Uriah's wife and to obtain her had her husband killed will be sufficient. With such, throw the emphasis upon the danger of harboring evil thoughts and the need of heart purity (see Golden Text).

With adults, however, some time may be devoted to the social evil which is such a menace to every nation, care being taken lest the discussion become morbid, or that we neglect to emphasize the fact that the cure is not in regulation or reformation but in the regeneration of the human heart.

I. David's Many Good Deeds, II Samuel, 7 and 9. As a background for his most repulsive sin David had a long list of excellent deeds. His desire for a better abiding place for the ark was not according to God's will for two reasons: first, that an ornate house might easily corrupt, through idolatry, the spirituality of the Hebrew religion; second, David was a man of war and therefore not qualified for temple building. Though denied, David did not despair, but at once provided that his successor carry out his desire.

II. David's One Great Sin, II Samuel, 11:2. David's victories over his enemies are dismissed in a few verses, yet his sin is set forth in detail—another evidence of the divine origin and inspiration of the Bible. David had followed the example of neighboring kings and taken to himself many wives, evidently regarding his fancy as supreme and himself as above the law. David was "off guard" in the matter of temptation, a dangerous position for all, both soldier and civilian. David had too long and too great a period of success and prosperity after his long period of privation, and this led to carelessness and pride. David was "off duty," indulging in ease while Joab did his fighting. As a result he became an adulterer and a murderer, and the record in no way seeks to palliate his guilt. From all this the record brings to us many important lessons. Outwardly prosperous and his army successful, David must have felt in his heart the spiritual blight in the words, "but the thing was evil in the eyes of the Lord" (v. 27 R. V.); no psalm writing then.

III. Nathan's Parable, II Samuel, 12:1-7. It is an evidence of God's grace that he sent his servant to rebuke and restore this "man after his own heart." Such is his mercy, for he does not will that any should perish but that all might come to the knowledge of forgiveness (Ezekiel 33:11; Matthew 23:37). No parable ever had its desired effect more quickly than this one. It brought conviction and repentance (v. 13) and led to the writing of the fifty-first psalm. It was a delicate task set before Nathan thus to rebuke the king, yet it reveals the essential nobleness of David in that he did not become angry. Nathan's task and his wisdom are revealed in his approach and in the way he led David to condemn, unwittingly, his own course of action. This was better than to begin by upbraiding and denunciation. Verse two suggests, inferentially, God's great goodness to David, which made the offense one of gross ingratitude.

IV. Thou Art the Man—v. 7a. Thus far the story is one all too common, then and now, of the strong crushing the weak and glorying in their selfishness. What follows is the evidence of God's response to man's repentance, the parallel to which has nowhere else been found in the ancient world. The glory of it is that David heard and heeded God's messenger. The whole sordid story with its resultant action on David's part brings us many priceless lessons. (1) That man who had lived a life of faith and communion felt most miserably when he neglected his duty and took his eyes off God. There is a grave danger ahead of the man who begins to trifle with sin (I Cor. 10:12). (2) Though a man fall (the godly man) yet he is not utterly cast down. There is pardon for the vilest sinner and the most abject backslider. David's murderous hands and sin-stained soul found pardon (Ps. 32 and 51). (3) A man's sins, though he may find pardon, will cloud all of his future.

David felt it in his own life and family; both daughter and sons felt its blight (see chapter 13), and it brought forth David's immortal lament over Absalom.

David's trusted friend joined the son's rebellion and caused David great sorrow (see 11:3; 23:34; 15:21 and Ps. 55:12-14). A human book would cover up, omit or seek to palliate such an act by one of the great of the earth (of the story of Napoleon and Josephine), yet the Bible tells all the facts to serve as a warning and to reveal God's matchless grace and mercy.

Coming * Redpath Chautauqua * 5 Big Days

Two Concerts by Jaroslav Cimerá and His Great Concert Band Grand Opera Vocal Solos
Instrumental Solos Lectures A Male Quartet Orchestral Music Readings
Magic and Mystery Children's Night Oratory Humor Instruction
Inspiration Story Hours For the Children

The season tickets purchased by the local committee and now on sale may be had while they last at $2.00. All season tickets thereafter will be $2.50 each.

CHAUTAUQUA WEEK HERE---JUNE 23 to 27

MOUNTAIN AGRICULTURE

Conducted by Mr. Robert F. Spence, Farm Demonstrator and Special Investigator

MY WEEK'S ITINERARY

It was my pleasure to be accompanied by the Managing Editor of The Citizen on my trip last week. We left Berea Tuesday morning the 25th by way of Wallacetown, and took dinner with Mr. Peters, one of our wide awake demonstrators, after going over his farm and taking a thorough view of his growing crops. Everything in that section of the country is in a prosperous condition. Mr. Peters' work is proving a valuable asset to his community.

We passed through Cartersville on to Gum Sulphur where we were due to lecture Tuesday night. About the hour of the meeting a down pour of rain hindered the people coming out. Supper was taken with James Brock, who is demonstrating the reclamation of a tract of land that is wholly worthless as a producer; by the use of cowpeas and the routine of crops recommended by the department. This work is under way and promises to be a model for many others of that neighborhood. The night was spent with Levi Estridge, who is the "red clover" man of his vicinity, meeting with much success with this crop. This gentleman has accomplished besides his farm work a good and beneficial work on his own person by cutting out the use of tobacco after having used it for thirty-five years. Young men, why don't you profit by this example and clean up and be free from this filthy habit? We joined Mr. Estridge's force in putting up an eighty rod stretch of woven wire fence which improved his frontage, by straightening the road that passes his buildings after which Mrs. Estridge treated us to a bounteous strawberry dinner of the finest we have ever eaten. When Mr. Estridge secures a stump puller we have pledged a days work with him on the job of removing the stumps from his next year's corn field. Farmers, why do you continue to let stumps crowd you out of the best land on your farms?

Wednesday night we were due to lecture at another point, but were waterbound at Brodhead where a very serious flood occurred swelling the fords to dangerous points. One good mule was drowned in an attempt to cross the ford just above the foot bridge. Much damage was done to growing crops by the sudden flood. The night was spent in the beautiful home of J. H. Ward one of the leading farmers and influential citizens of Brodhead.

Thursday between showers we called on a number of farmers among whom was Mr. Henry Anderson, who is intensely interested in farming and demonstrating to his neighbors the possibilities that lay hidden in the hills of that valley. His hog herd is one to be commended and the manner that he is protecting them from the cholera and other diseases that swine are heir to. His orchard enterprise on the hillside is one that many could profitably follow and thus utilize those parts of their farms that otherwise are difficult to handle. His alfalfa try-out is proving a success. His plot is in fine condition and as soon as the inoculation arrives the seed will be sown. His garden and Ging Seng beds are doing nicely. The good dinner served by his newly wed wife in the remodeled home on the hill will not soon be forgotten. Another place of interest was that of A. J. Sutton. This farmer is one who is getting the most out of farm life. His Ging Seng production is the most prolific of any visited. He has at present nearly 100,000 plants. His crop last year yielded him $500.00 plus $80.00 worth of seed and using his own expression, "And that much fun out of it." He expects to put out some alfalfa. He has now a plot of Sudan Grass which is doing well and promises to be a successful growth for this country. The sweet clover is being profitably grown on this farm as well as on many other farms we visited.

One night was spent in the home of Sam Maharg one of the progressive farmers near Hiatt. The beautiful residence and modernly equipped farm with its waving wheat fields and the warm welcome extended made us feel that we were among the highly favored. Here we saw one of the best fields of corn on the trip. In the way of utilizing a spring that flows from beneath a hill Mr. Maharg has installed a ram which forces the water up to the house without a stroke of labor. So many places in the country could be made more handy for the mothers and wives with a few dollars of expense if the farmers would but make a similar effort.

A hustling boy was entered upon the corn contest making the 50th one in the contest. Three years ago this boy started with a pig and by good management he has converted the pig into a mare and the mare has born him a good colt. Where is the boy that can beat that?

Ed Smith, our corn demonstrator, is getting along fine with his crops as well as the new buildings that he has under way. We went over his farm and examined things thoroughly to our delight. His machinery that he has lately installed and the condition of his farm are all indications of progress and success. Ripe cherries and a good dinner was the order of the hour at this home.

W. E. Winn's Rape is growing fine and promises his swine many greens for many days. His Vetch is not doing so well on account of the drouth. He has 20 acres of cowpeas, which are doing fine. The fine new home into which he has recently moved is an indication of prosperity on his part.

The entire trip was one full of encouragement for the farmers and the government farm demonstrator and investigator.

Berea Farmers' Meeting

BEREA FARMERS' MEETING

The farmer's regular monthly meeting was held in the Vocational Chapel, Berea, May 29, 1915, and was largely attended by farmers and their wives. The principal speakers were: Mr. Karaker and Professor Nicholls of Lexington Experiment Station. The first of these spoke at length on soil fertility and the use of lime and limestone on the land. He said one of the first things any farmer should do was to keep the land from washing. Our soil in the South has less organic matter than the soils in the North. Therefore they wash away more. Professor Nicholls in speaking on the subject of silos, gave many reasons why farmers should build silos. The farmers who have silos, keep up the fertility of the soil most. He made it plain why the German and Swiss farmers get

DAIRY

TWELVE GOOD SILO REASONS

One Great Obstacle, the Cost, May Be Partly Overcome by Constructing Pit Silos.

Shall I build a silo? This question is being asked by the more enterprising farmers and ranchmen all over the West. The cost of the silo is the greatest obstacle, but if this stands seriously in the way a pit may be dug and finished at a cost not exceeding fifty to one hundred dollars for material. Pit silos are very satisfactory and are certainly to be desired rather than to have no silo at all.

Twelve good reasons why the farmer should provide himself with a silo are given by T. B. Woodward of the dairy division, United States department of agriculture, in Farmers' Bulletin No. 556. Every one of them touches some spot of vital importance to the feeder.

A Battery of Silos on a Pennsylvania Dairy Farm.

ment of agriculture, in Farmers' Bulletin No. 556. Every one of them touches some spot of vital importance to the feeder.

1. More feed can be stored in a given space in the form of silage than in the form of fodder or hay.

2. There is a smaller loss of food material when a crop is made into silage than when cured as fodder or hay.

3. Corn silage is a more efficient feed than corn fodder.

4. An acre of corn can be placed in the silo at less cost than the same area can be husked and shredded.

so much milk from their cows is from the fact that they feed juicy ensilage feed. There are several crops that can be used for the silo, such as corn, cow-peas, sorghum and rye, but the best of these is corn.

Mr. McMurtry gave a most interesting talk on bee culture and how to have the best honey. He exhibited a colony in a glass hive and explained how to raise queens, etc.

Mr. Lengfeller gave a galvanizing talk to the association to be given away at the next meeting which will be held on the College Experiment field, near Silver Creek Church, June 26, 1915. This June meeting will be one of great importance. It will last all day with dinner on the grounds. Many interesting speakers will be present and the work done on the Experiment Field will be clearly explained. No farmer can afford to miss this meeting. Come and let's have a profitable day together.

5. Crop can be put in the silo during weather that could not be utilized for making hay or curing fodder.

6. More stock can be kept on a given area of land when silage is the basis of the ration.

7. There is less waste in feeding silage than in feeding fodder. Good silage properly fed is all consumed.

8. Silage is very palatable.

9. Silage, like other succulent feeds, has a beneficial effect upon the digestive organs.

10. Silage is the cheapest and best form in which a succulent feed can be provided for winter use.

11. Silage can be used for supplementing pastures more economically than can soiling crops, because it requires less labor, and silage is more palatable.

12. Converting the corn crop into silage clears the land and leaves it ready for another crop.

Almost anything in the way of forage crops may be put into the silo and will keep until it is needed.

DAIRY NOTES

Abuse generally educates the cow to kick.

Peanuts make a splendid crop on the dairy or hog farm.

A good dairy cow is the most profitable piece of property on the farm.

Keep the cows clean and you will not have so much trouble with stringy milk.

The income of the dairy is the most constant and systematic income of the entire farm.

For dairy cows the temperature of the barn should not fall below 40 degrees or rise above 60 degrees.

The good milker is the cow that turns the most feed into the largest flow of good, rich, healthful milk.

The young calf's digestion is very easily upset. Be careful that it is rightly fed and kept in clean quarters.

Leave all other work to help a cow that appears to be in trouble, whether it is your cow or your neighbor's.

PLAN FOR WEANING THE PIGS

Youngsters Are Allowed to Drain Sows' Udders, and Next Day They Are Put in Good Pastures.

Many of our best hog men now wean their pigs early and wean them all at the same time. The day before weaning they put the sows and pigs together in a pen by themselves and give the sows little or no feed that day.

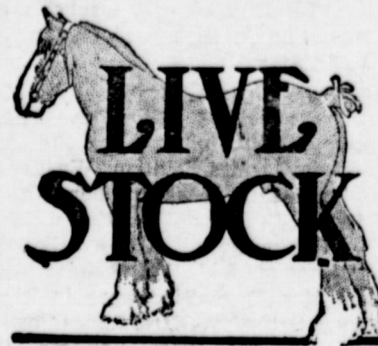

The pigs are allowed to drain the sows' udders and the next day the pigs are put in a good pasture by themselves and given a nutritious ration, skim milk being fed if it is available.

The sows are put on short pasture and for the first day or two are given plenty to drink but little to eat. In a short time they are dried up completely and then may be given a good ration to get them in condition for breeding or for market.

MANY STALLIONS IN INDIANA

State is Third in Number of Purchases, Against Tenth Place Last Year—Illinois is First.

Over five hundred registered Percheron stallions were transferred to Indiana owners, according to the report of the Percheron Society of America at its annual meeting. This puts the state third in number of purchases, against tenth place last year. The increase is accounted for by the new stallion registration rules, which require the owner to make the breeding of the horse public. Farmers have in many cases been breeding to horses of scrub lineage, which they supposed were purebreds. Illinois leads in numbers purchased, with 1,207.

CHARACTERISTICS OF A MULE

Endurance, Vigor and Easiness to Keep Depend Upon Mare—Demand is for Big Animals.

Mule breeders differ to some extent over whether the mule colt's characteristics are due most to the jack or to the mare. Several investigators who have asked mule breeders for their experiences and opinions have received information that was at variance. The weight of opinion, however, seems to incline that the external characteristics of the mule colt are given him by the jack, while his endurance, vigor and easiness to keep will depend upon the mare.

So it will be seen that the scrub mare, the cat-hampered, washy type of little weight or stamina will not make a suitable mother for the mule that is to sell well. Any sort of a mare will not do, but that is rather a popular idea among some growers. Take a big farm mare, one that will stand about 15, 15½ or 16 hands high, and that weighs anywhere from 1,400 to 1,800 pounds, and bred to a good jack she should produce the kind of mules that the market is always looking for.

When the jack is selected he should be of fair size and weight at about 1,000 to 1,200 pounds, and have the right kind of a pedigree back of him. Of course there are good jacks that are somewhat smaller, but the 15 to 15½ hand animal is the one that is most certain to produce the type of mules that a farmer likes to be able to offer. Where an animal is bought it is worth the buyer's while to spend a little more and get as nearly what is wanted as possible.

It is just as easy to raise a big, rugged, heavy mule as it is to grow the little mules that are now used over much of the South. They call them "cotton mules" in the southern states.

Excellent Type of Mule.

but the demand in that section is now for bigger animals because of the increasing size and weight of farm machinery. In the cities the big mule has the call. The little mule is not wanted and may soon become something of a drug on the market.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets

will relieve your indigestion. Many people in this town have used them and we have yet to hear of a case where they have failed. We know the formula. Sold only by us—25c a box.

Porter-Moore Drug Co., Inc.

WILSON WILL STAND FIRM

(Continued from page 1)

Indemnification if one of its citizens took passage on a British warship and thus became the victim of a German submarine. Then will come, what is in the German view, the crux of the whole situation as it exists at present, namely, the charge that the Lusitania was an armed cruiser of the British navy. The Germans believe the whole case turns on this issue, and on this belief base their demand that the government come to an agreement on the facts before Germany can be expected to reply finally to the president's note. The state department received another dispatch from Ambassador Gerard, which is regarded as removing the Gulfight and Cushing cases from the acute stage. The German government announces that the torpedoing of the Gulfight was a "mistake," and it is now expected that the same response will be made in regard to the Cushing and the Nebraskan.

Zeppelin Reported Over London. London, June 1.—The Zeppelins have reached London. How many there are, over what section of the city they have flown, what damage has been done may not be told at this time. The statement of the official press bureau may only be transmitted. Following many rumors the official press bureau issued the following bare announcement: "Zeppelins have passed over the outlying districts of London."

U. S. CRUISER IS AGROUND.

Washington.—The United States cruiser North Carolina is aground within the outer harbor of Alexandria, Egypt, according to a report sent to the Navy Department by her commander, Captain Joseph W. Oman, who says the ship is undamaged and that dredging operations will be undertaken to release her.

CINCINNATI MARKETS

Wheat—No. 2 red $1.42@1.44, No. 3 red $1.51@1.42, No. 4 red $1.38@1.40. Corn—No. 1 white 79c, No. 2 white 78½@79c, No. 1 yellow 78c, No. 2 yellow 77½@78c, No. 1 mixed 78c, No. 2 mixed 77½@78c, white ear 76@78c, yellow ear 77@78c, mixed ear 77@78c. Oats—No. 2 white 53½@54c, standard 53½@54½c, No. 3 white 53c, No. 4 white 51½@51½c, No. 2 mixed 51½@52c, No. 3 mixed 51c, No. 4 mixed 50@51c.

Hay—No. 1 timothy $19.50, No. 2 timothy $18.50, No. 3 timothy $17.50, No. 1 clover mixed $18.50, No. 2 clover mixed $17.50, No. 1 clover $17, No. 2 clover $16.

Milk Feed—Bran $22.50@24, mixed feed $25.50@26, middlings, coarse, $26, middlings, fine, $28.50@29.

Butter—Whole milk creamery extras 29c, firsts 26c, seconds 23c, dairy fancy 20c, No. 1 packing stock 19c, No. 2 17c.

Eggs—Prime firsts 16c, firsts 14½c, ordinary firsts 13½c, seconds 12½c.

Poultry—Broilers, 1½ lb and over, 30@32c; 1¼ lb and over, 25@28c; 1 lb to 1¼ lb 22@25c; fowls, over 3½ lbs, 14½c; 3½ lbs and under, 14½c; roosters, 8½c; ducks, white, 4 lbs and over, 12c; ducks, white, over 3 lbs, 11c; ducks, white, under 3 lbs, 10c; colored, 10c; hen turkeys, 8 lbs and over, 13c; old tom turkeys, 13c; young tom turkeys, 10 lbs and over, 13c.

Cattle—Shippers $6.75@8.25, extra $8.35@8.50; butcher steers, extra $8.25@8.50, good to choice $7@8, common to fair $6.25@6.75; heifers, extra $8.50@8.75, good to choice $7.75@8.25, common to fair $5.70@7.85; cows, extra $6.40@6.60, good to choice $5.75@7.65, common to fair $3.75@5.50; canners $3.25.

Bulls—Bologna $5.75@6.50, fat bulls $6.25@7.

Calves—Extra $8.25@8.50, fair to good $6.50@8, common and large $5@8.

Hogs—Selected heavy shippers $7.80@7.85, good to choice packers and butchers $7.80@7.85, mixed packers $7.70@7.80, stage $4.50@5.50, common to choice heavy fat sows $5.25@6.90, light shippers $7.35@7.80, pigs (120 lbs and less) $5.50@7.35.

Sheep—Extra light $5@5.75, heavy $4.75@5.25, good to choice $4.75@5.50, common to fair $4@4.75.

Spring Lambs—Extra $11.50, good to choice $11@11.25, common to fair $8@10.50.

LOCAL PAGE

NEWS OF BERA AND VICINITY, GATHERED FROM A VARIETY OF SOURCES

BRECK & EVANS
RICHMOND, KY.
FIRE, LIFE, ACCIDENT, AND LIVE STOCK
INSURANCE
See the New Life Policy.

THE CREECH STUDIO

Is the place to get your pictures made. We guarantee our work.
Main St., over Richardsons Store

Office Phone 148 Residence Phones 141 & 168

Drs. B. F. & M. M. Robinson

PHYSICIANS & SURGEON

Office Hours, 8 to 12 a. m., 1 to 4:30 p. m.
Office, Bera Bank & Trust Building, Bera, Ky.

Office Phone 75-2 Resident Phone 75-3

Dr. D. R. Botkin

PHYSICIAN AND SURGEON

Office Hours, 8 to 11 a. m., 2 to 4 p. m.
Office, Bera National Bank Building, Bera, Ky.

LAW OFFICE

H. L. McMURRY, Attorney-at-Law
Office over Engle's Store, Bera, Ky.

L. & N. TIME TABLE

North Bound, Local

Knoxville 7:00 a. m. 10:55 p. m.
BEREA 1:07 p. m. 3:54 a. m.
Cincinnati 6:15 p. m. 7:45 a. m.

South Bound, Local

Cincinnati 6:40 a. m. 8:15 p. m.
BEREA 12:37 p. m. 12:25 a. m.
Knoxville 7:00 p. m. 5:50 a. m.

Express Train

No. 33 will stop to take on passengers for Knoxville and points beyond.

South Bound

Cincinnati 8:00 a. m.
BEREA 11:45 a. m.

No. 32 will stop at Bera to take on passengers for Cincinnati, O., and points beyond.

North Bound

BEREA 4:55 p. m.
Cincinnati 8:50 p. m.

It looks like everybody is going to Welch's.

R. S. Lemon of Freeman, N. C., now a student at the Baptist Seminary of Louisville, preached at the Bera Baptist Church, Sunday. Mr. Lemon spent Monday visiting the College. He was accompanied on his return to Louisville by his cousin, L. A. Byrd, a student, who visited Mr. Lemon during the Commencement at the Seminary.

W. B. Trosper was the best Booster for last month and wears the gold watch. Who will win next? The next will be given to the individual, in accordance with the rules announced, not having won one who deposits the most Booster Coupons from the count of Monday, May 31st, to the count of Monday, June 28th.

Are you getting all your friends to hand in a list of words in the word contest? If you do, you can easily get 5,000 coupons free.

The word contest closes Saturday night, June 19th. To the winner of it will be given the 42-piece Dinner Set.

Our windows were trimmed by Miss Ruth Davis.

Why don't YOU get in the game and get silverware same as the rest of the people.

Mrs. J. M. Early
THE BOOSTER STORE

TIME TO GET UNDER

A Straw

No matter what the calendar says, when "Old Sol" begins to deal us his hot smile it's time to wear a straw.

We're showing a splendid line of Leghorns and Panamas in all the new soft and sailor shapes. Moderately priced at $1.50 to $3.50

Panamas, $5 to $6

"Palm Beach" and Silk Suits

Are here in all new styles and colors
$8.00 to $15.00

J. S. STANIFER
RICHMOND, KY.

THE NEW "BLAZER"

Striped Shirts

These are very striking shirts with collar attached and very dressy in appearance. The young man who desires to be attired properly for summer should secure a supply of these without delay, as they are very stylish, of high quality silk or soisette, and the low price makes them exceptional values.

$1.50 and $2.50

Fish's Millinery Sale

STILL ON
for ten days

Closes Thursday, June 10th

Cor. Main & Center Sts.

Bera, Kentucky

STRAWBERRIES

Strawberries are now at their best.
If you intend putting them up, now is the time—$2.25 per crate of 24 boxes

Leave your order with

JOE W. STEPHENS
The Old Reliable Meat Market
ASK FOR STAMPS

REFRIGERATORS

BIG ones, LITTLE ones, BIG ones, LITTLE ones
BIG ones, LITTLE ones, BIG ones, LITTLE ones
BIG ones, LITTLE ones, BIG ones, LITTLE ones
BIG ones, LITTLE ones, BIG ones, LITTLE ones
BIG ones, LITTLE ones, BIG ones, LITTLE ones

All Prices---Come and Look

SAVE THE DIFFERENCE
Welch's

Big Coffee Demonstration, June 9th. Everybody invited to come. A. B. Cornett, the grocer. ad.

Mr. and Mrs. Less Adams and sons, William Mason, and Lucian, spent week end in White Station with relatives and friends.

Faevies Maupin of White Station spent week's end in Bera with friends.

Jim Adams of Silver Creek, spent Friday with his brother, Less Adams.

Mrs. Jack Laswell and daughter, Maureen of Brush Creek, spent week end with her mother, Mrs. Nannie Brannaman.

Mrs. Ed Porter and children are visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Wolfe of Winchester. Mr. Porter spent Sunday with them.

Frank Guinn and wife visited his sisters, Mrs. J. R. Shaw and J. M. Gordon at Richmond, Saturday and Sunday.

Miss Hazel Ogg was a Bera visitor last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Guinn and Mr. and Mrs. W. McCullom visited at the home of T. F. Guinn, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. H. Kinnard is visiting with her children at Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Dempsey Pawley and little son, Harry, of Dayton, O., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Guinn.

Mrs. Fannie Lunsford, who some time ago underwent an operation for appendicitis at the College Hospital, is some better.

Mrs. Dempsey Pawley was visited by Miss Nellie Lawson at the home of her mother, Saturday and Sunday.

Aunt Margaret Todd, who has been in poor health all winter, is still improving.

Retail Orderlies

Sick headache, biliousness, piles and bad breath are usually caused by inactive bowels. Get a box of Retail Orderlies. They act gently and effectively. Sold only by us at 10 cents. Porter-Moore Drug Co., Inc.

J. S. Gott and family motored to Brookstown on Sunday, to visit relatives.

Mrs. D. W. Brown, daughter, Clarence, and Miss Mattie Baker are guests of Wallaceon friends this week.

Jesse M. Kinnard returns to his work out West this week.

Wright Kelley went to Conway on Tuesday to talk in the interests of good roads.

Mrs. Sallie P. Hanson is visiting friends in London this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Hays and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Coyle, Mr. Ramsey and several other Bera Citizens went to Camp Nelson, Sunday, to decorate the soldier's graves.

Mrs. June Fowler is spending this week with her mother, Mrs. Lucy McCormick, of Slate Lick.

Mrs. E. L. Farris and daughter, Ruth of Louisville, who have been visiting Miss Addie Bowling, have returned home.

Misses Versie Wilson and Lulu Robinson were Wallaceon guests last week.

Miss Ellen S. Miller and Louis H. Shearer of Richmond were horseback riding to Bera one day last week. Mr. Shearer is a former student of Bera and is well known by the student body.

Jersey Cow with Calf for Sale. ad. J. W. Stephens.

F. M. Morgan was a Lexington visitor Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. Azbill of Richmond attended the Cantata here last night.

Mrs. Margaret Ogg, who has been the matron of the boarding hall at Buckhorn College during the past year, arrived in Bera at the first of the week for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Roebuck.

Mrs. Clayton Crump of Lexington arrived in Bera last week for a visit of several days with relatives and friends.

Miss Edna Early attended a Sunday School convention held at Stanford, week before last.

F. J. Scrivner visited at the first of the week with his son, Edgar and family.

WANTED.—A girl for our Drug Store. Welch's ad.

UNION CHURCH NEWS

The Church will unite in the College service in the Chapel when President Frost will preach the Baccalaureate sermon.

The committee on plans for a new church have made their report.

Mrs. Roberts spoke at Harts and at Faristown last Sunday.

Mr. Hudson and Mr. Knight spoke at Kerby Knob. A large gathering with good results.

The Christian Endeavor held their last social Tuesday night.—A lively time, of course.

The officers of the Christian Endeavor for next year, elected last Sunday are: president—Fred Evans; vice-president—Kathryn Harwood; secretary—Della Holliday; treasurer—Luther Ambrose; pianist—Carol Edwards; Chorister—George Hancock.

MEMORIAL DAY

Memorial Day was observed very quietly in Bera last Saturday.

In the morning at 9:15 the student body, faculty and townspeople gathered in the main chapel where a very delightful and patriotic exercise was given by students from the Foundation Department and the Bera training school, consisting of songs, recitations and stories and concluded by a stirring address by Professor Dodge.

The march to the cemetery, the band leading, followed the morning chapel services. Here fitting services were rendered over the graves.

In the afternoon another chapel exercise was held in which President Frost made an address on the patriotism of the mountains.

The balance of the day was given over to socials of one nature or another.

FAMILY REUNION

On the 30th of May Mrs. Margaret Spence spent a delightful day with all of her children and grandchildren; Mrs. H. C. Brewer and family of Richmond; Mrs. I. J. Hughes and family of Ida May, Lee County; Mrs. Frank Culton of Cincinnati; and Leonard Spence and family of Bera.

After enjoying a dinner of everything good to eat, the family of which there were thirteen in all, had a group picture taken.

Mrs. Culton returned on the 5 p. m. train that day. Mrs. Brewer had motored over just for the day. Mrs. Hughes returned on the 4 a. m. train next day.

The day will long be remembered with the hope that they may enjoy many more such gatherings.

FOR SALE

Hickory wood at the Spoke Factory, Orders filled promptly.

MY! ME!

Here is the winning ticket No. 1635

Have you got it? If so, bring it in and get Five Silver Dollars.

If you want clean meats, groceries and vegetables at rock bottom prices, phone your order to

C. G. DEGMAN
"The Square Deal Man"

Bera, Ky.

Phone 65

RICHARDSON & COYLE

Dry Goods
Ladies' & Gents' Furnishings
Florsheim Shoes
 For the man who cares

Main Street - - - - - Berea, Kentucky

SAFETY FIRST CONFIDENCE ALWAYS

The Government Charters, Examiners and Controls the National Banks.

The Berea National seeks your business on its record

BEREA NATIONAL BANK
 BEREA, KENTUCKY

College News

Donald Coyle of the College Department left for his home in Illinois last Thursday.

Burnie Franklin, a former Berea student, visited friends about Berea last week. He has been teaching school in North Carolina the past year, and was on his way to Medina, O., where he will spend the summer. He is planning to be in school here next year.

The Y. M. C. A. boys enjoyed a party to Slate Lick last Friday evening. They "hiked" out taking their supper with them and returned about curfew time. A big time was experienced.

E. M. Gardner of Salyersville, Magon County, who was a student in Berea ten years ago, visited his brother, Wishard, of the Academy, Monday.

Miss Helen Anne Carruthers, who has been secretary to Mr. Vaughn the past year, left for Greenville, S. C., last week.

Miss E. A. Lovell of Louisville and Miss F. A. Mahatha of Newport were Tavern visitors last Sunday.

Professor Lewis' Geology class made a trip to Ford, last Saturday.

Miss Ruth Porter left for Black Mountain, N. C., Monday night, where she will spend the summer.

Verne Smith made a trip to New Vienna, O., Saturday, to visit the schools at that place and also Professor and Mrs. Cromer, who are now located there.

The Academy senior class went to Slate Lick last Friday on the noon train for their class day party.

Everett Partlow of the Vocational Department left for his home at Willard, Carter County, last Thursday.

The Vocational senior class went to Mallory Springs last Friday for a day's outing.

News comes to Berea of the graduation of Miss Martha Sproule, from Cincinnati Missionary Training School of Cincinnati. Miss Sproule was a graduate from the College Department here in 1911, and while in Berea she made many friends, who congratulate her and wish her the very best in life.

Miss Berenice Brown of the Academy Department is enjoying a visit from her mother during Commencement week.

Miss Helen Bryan, teacher in the Vocational Department, left yesterday for her home at Hamilton, N. Y., where she will spend the summer.

Misses Grace Engle, Eunice Pearson and Nora Baker left today for Asheville, N. C., to attend the Summer Conference of the Y. W. C. A.

The graduating class of the Vocational Department greatly enjoyed their class day outing to Mallory Springs last Thursday afternoon.

Miss Leona Evans is being visited until after Commencement by her sister, Mrs. Pierson and daughter, Alberta, of Clintonville, O.

After a delicious banquet, prepared under the efficient management of Miss Sperry, and served by future Phi Deltians, came the real symposium, "the flow of wit and feast of reason." Surely Phi Delta had aimed high and hit the mark. Dean Slagle, as toast-master, was most happy in introducing the various speakers, all of whom spoke on subjects relating to "America first," and showed not only careful preparation, but fine marshaling of thought and real oratorical ability.

Most of the speeches departed from the lighter vein, usual on such occasions, and dealt with the more serious problems that confront the world today. Such topics as "Awards of Industry," "Women's Status in Government," "The New South," "The American Educated Man in the World Crisis," were ably discussed by Messrs. Degman, Griffin, Harrison and Hoagland respectively. A lighter vein was introduced in a spirited "Object Lesson," illustrating some causes of "Internal Discord," but the value of "National Harmony" was ably set forth by Mr. Frye, and the program was appropriately ended by the singing of "America" by four of Phi Delta's sympathizers.

The "Parson's Trio" added much to the pleasure of the evening by two vocal selections. Mr. Degman in the course of his speech unveiled a new banner of which Phi Delta may well be proud. It bore the following significant inscription: "Home Oratorical Contest, Burton Oratorical Contest, Prohibition Oratorical Contest, Debate, 1915."

The educational value of such entertainments is not to be underestimated, when, as with us, the students do all the work which in most schools is done by the caterer.

HEROES OF '76

"The Heroes of '76," a cantata prepared by the Harmonia Society for their spring concert was given in the College Tabernacle, Wednesday, June 2, before a large and enthusiastic audience.

The title is suggestive in itself. We do not have to stretch our imaginations far to conclude that this is a cantata full of vivid reality and stirring patriotism. We go to it with our pulses quickened expecting to really see scenes of those vigorous days relived before our eyes. Some how or other as we read the title our blood becomes fired and we have an intense desire to feel the throb of those drastic revolutionary times. And we were not disappointed. In fact we were very agreeably surprised, for it even exceeded our expectations.

It was actually thrilling to sit in the audience and watch the play in progress. First, the quiet domestic scene with the Farmer and his wife and Roger, Anna and Ruth and a number of maids, matrons and farm hands. Everything is peaceful and happy. Suddenly the beacon light is seen and Captain Allen rushes in announcing that war is on. Then came the mustering scene and Roger leaves his father's house and joins the continentals. The parting scene between Anna and Roger, who are sweethearts, is touching. She bravely assumes the true woman's part and bids him go to the defence of his country. The old farmer prays for God's blessing and benediction and then the small band of volunteers march away.

The camp scene followed in which Captain Allen sings a patriotic song expressive of the feeling of the occasion. Other events transpire and then comes the battle scene in which Roger is wounded and given up for dead. Several years pass and the war at last is ended and the soldiers return to their homes and are welcomed gladly back by their wives and daughters. Roger, however, is not among the survivors and Anna is heartbroken. All join in mourning his supposed death. But the sorrow of all changes to joy when he appears with Clover, the faithful negro servant of the Farmer's household. Then there was great rejoicing at the happy conclusion of the long years of suffering. Then came the closing tableau of the triumph of liberty, which was very beautiful, after which the audience arose and sang America.

The cantata was a great success and Professor Rigby, who has spared neither time nor pains in making it such, is to be congratulated. Everything was fine, the solo work, the chorus work, the tableau effects, and the scenery and costumes. It was all the product of hard, patient training and the results showed how amply the efforts were rewarded.

The leading parts were: The Farmer by Walter Heckman; the Farmer's wife, Lucy Smith; Roger, the farmer's son, Gordon Inrie; Anna, Roger's sweetheart, Berenice Brown; Ruth, by Viola Gilmer; Captain Allen, Mr. Hancock; Uncle Ephraim, by Walter Dennis; and Clover, whose antics and clever wit amused throughout, by Luther Ambrose. As is customary with the spring concert, a second rendering will be

Studebaker Wagons

Studebaker Buggies

Oliver Plows and Cultivators

Malleable Ranges

V. C. and Globe Fertilizers

Wall Paper and Roofing

AT

R. H. CHRISMAN'S

"The Furniture Man"

Berea, - - - - - Kentucky

effected next Monday night. Those who missed it this time can fill afford to miss the next one. It is well worth the while.

MOVING-UP DAY

Tuesday was observed as moving up day in the exercises at College Chapel Tuesday morning. The graduating class was given a place on the platform, the juniors moved up into their seats, and so on thru all the classes.

Quite a large number of Normal and Academy graduates were gladly welcomed in as prospective College students of next year. After a few appropriate remarks by Dean Rumold, the president of the senior graduating class made a very fitting and touching little talk followed by the singing of the senior class song. Each of the classes gave a response by a speech or class song, and sometimes both, and the entire exercise was one that will long be remembered by the college students.

U. D. LOVE FEAST

The girls of Utile Dulce Literary Society greatly enjoyed their annual love-feast this year at the hospitable home of Mrs. W. G. Best on Estill street last Saturday evening. The former members living in town, and several friends were guests at the occasion and joined heartily in the merry making and feasting.

ELEVEN GREAT CONVENTIONS

One Will be Held at Berea June 10-11 The Rev. O. G. Ragan, District Superintendent of the Lexington District Methodist Episcopal Church has arranged for a team of five missionaries to hold eleven conventions in this District. The missionaries are men of platform ability and expert knowledge of their respective fields. The following men have been secured.

Dr. James M. Taylor of Chattanooga, who has traveled South America five times and is an eloquent speaker. Dr. John N. West for twenty two years a missionary in India. He has been president of the Reid Christian College, Lucknow, India and also District Superintendent of Bareilly District. The Rev. Raymond L. Bush of Africa, who has a wonderful story to tell of the Dark Continent. The Rev. J. Waskom Pickett of North India and Rev. J. J. Kingham of South India.

By addresses and stereopticons these missionaries will make their respective fields to stand out with clearness and urgent opportunity.

The Convention at Berea is to be held Thursday and Friday, June 10-11 in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The other places where Conventions will be held are Somerset, Kings Mountain, Nicholasville, Monica, College Hill, London, Corbin, Williamsburg, Barbourville and Harlan.

METHODIST NEWS

Be sure to hear Miss Lucille Blazer of Yellow Springs, O., in her musical recital given at the M. E. Church, Friday, June 4th, 7:30, under the auspices of the Epworth League. Admission, 15 and 25 cents. Miss Blazer will be accompanied by her sister, Mrs. Chas. Welsh, of

Watch Your Children
 Often children do not let parents know they are constipated. They fear something distasteful. They will like Rexall Orderlies—a mild laxative that tastes like sugar. Sold only by us, 10 cents. Porter-Moore Drug Co., Inc.

Springfield, O. This event promises to be one of the great musical treats of the year. Bring your friends.

Rev. D. W. Brown will occupy his pulpit at the M. E. Church, Sunday next. Special music will be furnished by Miss Blazer and Mrs. Chester Parks.

A most successful revival meeting has just closed at the M. E. Church at Paint Lick, where Rev. D. W. Brown has been preaching, assisting Rev. Godbey, the pastor, in his work on that circuit.

The Decoration service and quarterly conference at Wallacetown Chapel was a happy event Sunday last when over five hundred people partook of an old-fashioned basket dinner on the grounds, after which the graves were decorated and the pastor gave a thrilling oration in the cemetery in honor of the departed heroes lying there. Squire Baker gave three very fitting talks over the graves of three veterans. Mrs. Brown's Sunday School class, dressed all in white, rendered very effectively their pantomime "Nearer My God to Thee," which brought tears to many eyes. Dr. Ragan of Vanceburg, Ky., father of our district superintendent, officiated at the quarterly conference, and preached stirring sermons Saturday night and Sunday morning. An Epworth League was organized, and promises to be a great drawing attraction for the young people of Wallacetown each Sunday evening. Every department of the Church at Wallacetown is in a promising state, and the members and friends much encouraged.

Dr. West, a returned missionary from India, addressed a goodly audience at the M. E. Church at Berea, Monday evening, where he gave a graphic description of his work in that interesting land. He is one of the five world-wide evangelist missionaries who will visit Berea "to stir us up."

DIXIE HIGHWAY MEETING

(Continued from page 1.)

nature of the highway commission which consists of fourteen members, two of which were appointed by each of the governors of the seven states interested, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida. This commission had authority to locate the route and name all conditions. Contrary to rumor the commission has no money to spend. Each county must stand the expense of building its own section. This is only right for the county will own, use and be benefited by the road not only in increased facilities for traffic, but also it will profit by the enhanced value of the farming lands adjacent to the highway.

In a very clear and pertinent address Professor Clark spoke of the great value of this movement to this section of country. He emphasized the necessity for united and persistent effort.

In a most instructive and convincing address His Honor, Judge Shackelford, of Richmond, told of the history of good roads in Madison County from the time of the surrender of the toll pikes to the present. He made it very clear that the fiscal court was appointed to care not for sectional interests but for the welfare of the county as a unit. His explanation of the methods of the court was of interest to every tax payer.

Without qualification he stood for the Dixie highway and for the improved road from Kingston to Berea, the plans for which, already made, are expected next week from the state board with their approval when contracts will be let at once. Madison County is ready to meet Jackson or Rockcastle at any point with a good connecting road.

It was interesting to know that President Frost was early in the fight for the eastern route. Through his efforts the commissioners from Illinois, Indiana and Ohio were thoroughly informed of the desirability of the Eastern Route thru Richmond and Berea, of its historic and scenic value before the commission met.

Professor Smith in a few convincing remarks showed the increase in land values resulting from good roads and the consequent enlarged financial resource of each county.

Join the club at once. Mayor Gay or Mr. Dean will enter your names. Berea acknowledges its debt to Richmond.

Monuments and Headstones

All stock left over from Decoration Day will be closed out at very low prices till June 15th.

"The Quality Shop"
 Jas. Harwood, Mgr.

Berea - - - - - Ky.

usually saves her money. Put away a small amount each week or month and it will surprise you how fast it will grow. Pay all your bills by check and an accurate expense account is the result.

Berea Bank & Trust Co.
 Main Street, Berea, Kentucky

The Story of Waitstill Baxter

By KATE DOUGLAS WIGGIN

Copyright, 1915, by Kate Douglas Wiggin

CHAPTER XV.

A Brace of Lovers.

HAYING was over and the close, sticky dog days, too, and August was slipping into September. There had been plenty of rain all the season, and the countryside was looking as fresh and green as an emerald. The hillsides were already clothed with a verdant growth of new grass and—

The red pennons of the cardinal flowers hung motionless upon their upright staves. How they gleamed in the meadow grasses and along the brook-sides, like brilliant flecks of flame, giving a new beauty to the nosegays that Waitstill carried or sent to Mrs. Boynton every week.

To the eye of the casual observer life in the two little villages by the river's brink went on as peacefully as ever, but there were subtle changes taking place nevertheless. Cephas Cole had "asked" the second time and again had been refused by Patty, so that even a very idiot for hopefulness could not urge his father to put another story on the ell.

"If it turns out to be Phoebe Day," thought Cephas dolefully, "two rooms is plenty good enough, an' I shan't block up the door that leads from the main part, neither, as I thought likely I should. If so be it's got to be Phoebe, not Patty, I shan't care whether mother troops out 'n' in or not." And Cephas dealt out rice and tea and coffee with so languid an air and made such frequent mistakes in weighing the sugar that he drew upon himself many a sharp rebuke from the deacon.

"Of course I'd club him over the head with a salt fish twice a day under ordinary circumstances," Cephas confided to his father, with a valiant air that he never won in Deacon Baxter's presence, "but I've got a reason, known to nobody but myself, for wantin' to stan' well with the old man for a spell longer. If ever I quit wantin' to stan' well with him he'll get his comeuppance short and sudden!"

"Speakin' o' standin' well with folks, Phil Perry's kind o' makin' up to Patience Baxter, ain't he, Cephas?" asked Uncle Bart guardedly. "Mebbe you wouldn't notice it, hevin' no partic'lar int'rest, but your mother's kind o' got the idee into her head lately, an' she's turrible farsighted."

"I guess it's so!" Cephas responded gloomily. "It's nip an' tuck 'tween him an' Mark Wilson. That girl draws 'em as molasses does flies. She does it 'bout liftin' a finger, too, no more'n the molasses does. She just sets still an' an' all the time she's nothin' but a flighty little reddenhead spitfire that don't know a good husband when she sees one. The feller that gets her will live to regret it, that's my opinion!" And Cephas thought to himself, "Good Lord, don't I wish I was regrettin' this very minute!"

"I s'pose a girl like Phoebe Day'd be consid'able less trouble to live with?" ventured Uncle Bart.

"I never could take any fancy to that low hair o' hers! I like the color well enough when I'm peeling it off a corn cob, but I don't like it on a girl's head," objected Cephas hypercritically. "An' her eyes hain't got enough blue in 'em to be blue. They're jest like skimmilk. An' she keeps her mouth open a little mite all the time, jest as if there wa'n't no good draft through, an' she was a-tryin' to git air. An' 'twas me that begun callin' her 'Feeble Phoebe' in school, an' the scholars'll never forgit it. They'd throw it up to me the whole 'durin' time if I should go to work an' keep company with her!"

"Mebbe they've forgot by this time," Uncle Bart responded hopefully; "though it's an awful risk when you think o' Companion Pike! Samuel, he was baptized and Samuel he continued to be, till he married the Widder Bixby from Waterboro. Bein' as how there wa'n't nothin' partic'ly attractive 'bout him—though he was as nice a feller as ever lived—somebody asked her why she married him, an' she said her cat had jest died an' she wanted a companion. The boys never let go o' that story! Samuel Pike he ceased to be thirty year ago, an' Companion Pike he's remained up to this instant minute!"

"He ain't lived up to his name much," remarked Cephas. "He's to home for his meals, but I guess his wife never sees him between times."

"If the cat had lived mebbe she'd 'a' been better company, on the whole," chuckled Uncle Bart. "Companion was allers kind o' dreamy an' absent minded from a boy. I remember askin' him what his wife's Christian name was (she bein' a stranger to Riverboro), an' he said he didn't know! Said he called her Mis' Bixby afore he married her an' Mis' Pike afterwards!"

"Well, there's something turrible queer 'bout this marryin' business," and Cephas drew a sigh from the heels of his boots. "It seems 's if a man had'n't no natcher drawin' towards a girl with a good farm 'n' stock that was willin' to have him! Seems jest as if it set him ag'in' her somehow! And yet, if you've got to sing out o' the same book with a girl, your whole lifetime, it does seem 's if you'd ought to have a kind o' a fancy for her at the start, anyhow!"

"You may feel diff'rent as time goes on, Cephas, an' come to see Feeble—I would say Phoebe—as your mother does. The best fire don't flare up the soonest, you know." But old Uncle Bart saw that his son's heart was heavy and forebore to press the subject.

"He ain't livin' up to his name much," remarked Cephas.

Annabel Franklin had returned to Boston after a month's visit and to her surprise had returned as disengaged as she came. Mark Wilson, thoroughly bored by her vacillities of mind, longed now for more intercourse with Patty Baxter. Patty, so gay and unexpected; so lively to talk with, so plucking to the fancy, so skittish and difficult to manage, so temptingly pretty, with a beauty all her own, and never two days alike.

There were many lions in the way, and these only added to the zest of pursuit. With all the other girls of the village opportunities multiplied, but he could scarcely get ten minutes alone with Patty. The deacon's orders were absolute in regard to young men. His daughters were never to drive or walk alone with them, never to go to dances or "routs" of any sort and never receive them at the house, this last mandate being quite unnecessary, as no youth in his right mind would have gone a-courtin' under the deacon's forbidding gaze. And still there were sudden, delicious chances to be seized now and then if one had his eyes open and his wits about him. There was the walk to or from the singing school, when a sentimental couple could drop a few feet at least behind the rest and exchange a word or two in comparative privacy; there were the church "circles" and prayer meetings and the intervals between Sunday services, when Mark could detach Patty a moment from the group on the meeting house steps. More valuable than all these, a complete schedule of Patty's various movements here and there, together with a profound study of Deacon Baxter's habits, which were ordinarily as punctual as they were disagreeable, permitted Mark many stolen interviews, as sweet as they were brief. There was never a second kiss, however, in these casual meetings and partings. The first, in springtime, had found Patty a child, surprised, unprepared. She was a woman now, for it does not take years to achieve that miracle; months will do it or days or even hours. Her summer's experience with Cephas Cole had wonderfully broadened her powers, giving her an assurance sadly lacking before, as well as a knowledge of detail, a certain finished skill in the management of a lover, which she could ably use on any one who happened to come along. And at the moment any one who happened to come along served the purpose admirably, Philip Perry as well as Mark Wilson.

Young Perry's interest in Patty, as we have seen, began with his alienation from Ellen Wilson, the first object of his affections, and it was not at the outset at all of a sentimental nature. Philip was a pillar of the church, and Ellen had proved so entirely lacking in the religious sense, so self-satisfied as to her standing with the heavenly powers, that Philip dared not expose himself longer to her society lest he find himself "unequally yoked together with an unbeliever," thus defying the scriptural admonition as to marriage.

Patty, though somewhat lacking in the qualities that go to the making of trustworthy saints, was not, like Ellen, wholly given over to the fleshpots and would prove a valuable convert, Philip thought, one who would reflect great credit upon him if he succeeded in inducing her to subscribe to the stern creed of the day.

Philip was a very strenuous and slightly gloomy believer, dwelling considerably on the wrath of God and the doctrine of eternal punishment. There was an old "pennyroyal" hymn much in use which describes the general tenor of his meditation—

My thoughts on awful subjects roll—
Damnation and the dead;
What horrors seize the guilty soul
Upon a dying bed!

(No wonder that Jacob Cochrane's lively songs, cheerful, hopeful, militant and bracing, fell with a pleasing sound upon the ear of the believer of that epoch.) The love of God had, indeed, entered Philip's soul, but in some mysterious way had been osgned after it got there. He had intensely black hair, dark skin and a liver that disposed him constitutionally to an ardent belief in the necessity of hell for most of his neighbors and the hope of spending his own glorious immortality in a small, properly restricted and prudently managed heaven. He was eloquent at prayer meeting, and Patty's only objection to him there was in his disposition to allude to himself as a "rebel worm," with frequent references to his "vile body." Otherwise and when not engaged in theological discussion Patty liked Philip very much. His own father, although an orthodox member of the fold in good and regular standing, had "doctored" Phil conscientiously for his liver from his youth up, hoping in time to incite in him a sunnier view of life, for the doctor was somewhat skilled in adapting his remedies to spiritual maladies. Jed Morrill had always said that when old Mrs. Buxton, the champion convert of Jacob Cochrane, was at her worst—keeping her whole family awake nights by her hysterical fears for their future—Dr. Perry had given her a twelfth of a grain of tartar emetic five times a day until she had entire mental relief, and her anxiety concerning the salvation of her husband and children was set completely at rest.

The good doctor noted with secret pleasure his son's growing fondness for the society of his prime favorite, Miss Patience Baxter. "He'll begin by trying to save her soul," he thought. "Phil always begins that way, but when Patty gets him in hand he'll remember the existence of his heart, an organ he has never taken into consideration. A love affair with a pretty girl, good but not too pious, will help Phil considerably, however it turns out."

There is no doubt but that Phil was taking his chances and that under Patty's tutelage he was growing mellow. As for Patty, she was only amusing herself and frisking like a young lamb in pastures where she had never strayed before. Her fancy flew from Mark to Phil and from Phil back to Mark again, for at the moment she was just a vessel of emotion, ready to empty herself on she knew not what. Temperamentally, she would take advantage of currents rather than steer at any time, and it would be the strongest current that would finally bear her away. Her idea had always been that she could play with fire without burning her own fingers and that the flames she kindled were so innocent and mild that no one could be harmed by them. She had fancied up to now that she could control, urge on or cool down a man's feeling forever and a day if she chose and remain mistress of the situation. Now, after some weeks of weighing and balancing her two swains, she found herself confronting a choice once and for all. Each of them seemed to be approaching the state of mind where he was likely to say, somewhat violently, "Take me or leave me, one or the other!" But she did not wish to take them, and still less did she wish to leave them, with no other lover in sight but Cephas Cole, who was almost, though not quite, worse than none.

If matters by lack of masculine patience and self control did come to a crisis what should she say definitely to either of her suitors? Her father despised Mark Wilson a trifle more than any young man on the river, and while he could have no objection to Philip Perry's character or position in the world, his hatred of old Dr. Perry amounted to a disease. When the doctor had closed the eyes of the third Mrs. Baxter he had made some plain and unwelcome statements that long rankled in the deacon's breast as long as he lived. Patty knew, therefore, that the chance of her father's blessing falling upon her union with either of her present lovers was more than uncertain, and of what use was an engagement if there could not be a marriage?

If Patty's mind inclined to a somewhat speedy departure from her father's household she can hardly be blamed, but she felt that she could not carry any of her indecisions and fears to her sister for settlement. Who could look in Waitstill's clear, steadfast eyes and say, "I can't make up my mind which to marry?" Not Patty. She felt, instinctively, that Waitstill's heart, if it moved at all, would rush out like a great river to lose itself in the ocean and, losing itself, forget the narrow banks through which it had flowed before. Patty knew that her own love was at the moment nothing more than the note of a child's penny flute and that Waitstill was perhaps vibrating secretly with a deeper, richer music than could ever come to her. Still, music of some sort she meant to feel. "Even if they make me decide one way or another before I am ready," she said to herself, "I'll never say 'yes' till I'm more in love than I am now!"

There were other reasons why she did not want to ask Waitstill's advice. Not only did she shrink from the loving scrutiny of her sister's eyes and the gentle probing of her questions, which would fix her own motives on a pin point and hold them up unbecomingly to the light, but she had a foolish, generous loyalty that urged her to keep Waitstill quite aloof from her own little private perplexities.

"She will only worry herself sick," thought Patty. "She won't let me marry without asking father's permission, and she'd think she ought not to aid me in deceiving him, and the tempest would be twice as dreadful if it fell upon us both! Now, if anything happens, I can tell father that I did it all myself and that Waitstill knew nothing about it whatever. Then—oh, joy!—if father is too terrible I shall be a married woman and I can always say: 'I will not permit such cruelty! Wait-still is dependent upon you no longer; she shall come at once to my husband and me!"

This latter phrase almost intoxicated Patty, so that there were moments when she could have run up to Milliken's mills and purchased herself a husband at any cost, had her slender savings permitted the best in the market, and the more impersonal the husband the more delightedly Patty rolled the phrase under her tongue.

"I can never be 'published' in church," she thought, "and perhaps nobody will ever care enough about me to brave father's displeasure and insist on running away with me. I do wish somebody would care 'frightfully' about me enough for that, enough to help me make up my mind, so that I could just drive up to father's store some day and say, 'Good afternoon, father! I knew you'd never let me marry'—there was always a dash here in Patty's imaginary discourses, a dash that could be filled in with any Christian name according to her mood of the moment—"so I just married him anyway and you needn't be angry with my sister, for she knew nothing about it. My husband and I are sorry if you are displeased, but there's no help for it, and my husband's home will always be open to Waitstill whatever happens!"

Patty, with all her latent love of finery and ease, did not weigh the worldly circumstances of the two men, though the reflection that she would have more amusement with Mark than with Philip may have crossed her mind. She trusted Philip and respected his steady going, serious view of life. It pleased her vanity, too, to feel how her nonsense and fun lightened his temperamental gravity, playing in and out and over it like a butterfly in a smoke bush. She would be safe with Philip always, but safety had no special charm for one of her age, who had never been in peril. Mark's superior knowledge of the world, moreover, his careless, buoyant manner of carrying himself, his gay, boyish audacity, all had a very distinct charm for her—and yet—

But there would be no "and yet" a little later. Patty's heart would blaze quickly enough when sufficient heat was applied to it and Mark was falling more and more deeply in love every day. As Patty vacillated his purpose strengthened, the more she weighed the more he ceased to weigh the difficulties of the situation, the more she unfolded herself to him the more he loved and the more he respected her. She began by delighting his senses, she ended by winning all that there was in him and creating continually the qualities he lacked, after the manner of true women even when they are very young and foolish.

(To be Continued)

WORK IN THE STATE PRISON

(Continued from Page 2.)

They have abolished the lash, also the striped clothes, (except where prisoners cannot be controlled with kindness, they are put in striped clothes as punishment). The prisoners look hopeful, our religious work is encouraged, our warden is a Christian gentleman, and his wife a very helpful worker in the Society.

We have a night school from 6 to 8 o'clock p.m., which is attended by six hundred of our prisoners. Several of our prisoners are teachers. Stenography is taught in addition to the regular school studies. The president of our W. C. T. U. has always been a deeply interested helper in all our prison reform work.

When I return, (after an absence from home) my first question to our C. E. boys is, "Who has won a soul to Christ?" "Who has persuaded some one to turn to a better life?"

Fighting among our prisoners has almost been eliminated by the example and management of our warden.

Our last great International Christian Endeavor Convention met at Atlantic City two years ago. The delegations from India, China, Japan, and many other distant countries came marching on to the platform, carrying the banners of their several countries, and telling of the wonderful blessing that Christian Endeavor had brought to them. It was an inspiring sight, but the reports from the prison workers were even more interesting to me.

When the roll was being called and our State was reached, Dr. Francis E. Clark, our international president, arose and said "Kentucky leads the world in prison work. What other prisoners have contributed to the relief fund of the famine sufferers of India, China and Japan? What others contribute every year to their State work? What others have memorized thousands of Bible verses? Many being able to repeat whole books of the New Testament."

These contributions were always unsolicited, as I always advised that all they could spare of their very limited means be sent to their homes.

I have a standing offer of a Bible to any one who memorizes Scripture verses—a handsome teacher's Bible to each of those who have the greatest number to their credit.

Our present Commissioners have put several hundred Bibles into our library.

"I was sick and in prison, and ye came unto me."

A Mix-up in Overcoats

By Mary Gertrude Sheridan

(Copyright, 1915, by W. G. Chapman.)

A happy man was Clyde Brewster, at his happiest when the girl he loved, May Worthington, was by his side. She was in that delightful situation now, as they left the train which had carried them from their home suburb to the city.

They were passing with the crowd down the platform to the exit when, suddenly, a bright-faced, petite young lady, loveliness and grace in her every movement, ran up behind Clyde, reached her arms across his shoulder, blinding him by pressing both of her pretty hands over his eyes and, her own full of mischief, called out:

"Guess who!"

May stared, the crowd grinned, some silly girls giggled to the intense mortification of May. Her escort struggled free of the imprisoning hand. He faced the girl. She flushed crimson, darted away and was lost in the crowd.

There were significant smiles all about. May bridled up, stony-faced, till Clyde actually shivered. He hurried her to the street.

"Who was that—audacious creature?" iterated May, icily, resentment and suspicion in her tones.

"I never saw her before. Don't you see it was all a mistake? Why, ah! ah!" cried Clyde in a relieved tone, "it's the overcoat!"

"Really?" spoke May, dubiously, but her face brightened.

"Why, of course," declared Clyde, with extraordinary energy and earnestness. "How palpable! Here, yesterday evening, some man took my overcoat from the train rack, as I told you. He is probably a commuter, like myself. From some papers in this coat, which I have had to wear, and which, as you see, is of startling pattern, I have secured his office address and will get my garment back. That girl undoubtedly took me for this Payne—yes, that is the name on his card—Roger Payne."

May was pacified. Then, later, she faced a discovery that was a wild, destructive tornado in its nature. If Clyde had known of it he would have gone all to pieces. Innocent, faithful, but guileless lover, he left May to go in search of this Roger Payne. As he entered the office of the latter he noticed his coat lying over the back of a chair.

"Mr. Payne, I assume?" he said, and as the other nodded in assent, Clyde added: "I've got your coat and gloves and thought I'd come and get your hat, too!"

The other met Clyde half way in a laughing exchange of the coats and a mutual explanation. Clyde went on his way, pleased over the episode. A "stunner" welcomed him as he reached his home that evening.

It came in the shape of a formal, almost stern communication from the mother of May. In a few well chosen words it informed Clyde that hereafter, by wish and sanction of May, his permanent absence from the Worthington home was desired and insisted on.

There was a line added to the letter that had a sting to it, as though it was an afterthought. It ran: "The prized love letter of your boyhood acquaintance of the depot cannot be returned, as it was destroyed."

"Jealous still of that madcap girl at the train," was the first thought of Clyde.

"But the love letter—what love letter?" he added, mystified and dismayed.

Next day he wrote to May. Letter returned, unopened. He tried to telephone her—receiver hung up. Then he heard, incidentally, that the Worthingtons were preparing to go off to a summer resort. His hopes and his appetite failed him. He could not sleep. The third day he was walking dejectedly along the street when a hand clasped him heartily on the shoulder. Clyde turned to face Roger Payne, the girl who had blindfolded him at the depot hanging on his arm.

"Miss Lansing," introduced Payne. "Don't look confused. She has told me all about her mistake at the depot. How are you? I must say you look dejected and worried."

"Reason to be," muttered Clyde. "I've had nothing but bad luck since the day we exchanged coats."

"That so?" replied Payne. "Tell me about it," and Clyde related his dolorous story. The eyes of Miss Lansing widened. Payne's face wore a puzzled and then an enlightened look. He thrust his hand feverishly into an inside pocket of his overcoat, that Clyde had been forced to wear for the space of about eighteen hours. His face was blank as an apparent search brought no result.

"You careless man!" chided Miss Lansing, her eyes twinkling, although she waved a warning finger at him. "Is that all you think of me?"

"Sh! don't mention it before our friend Brewster, here."

"He must know," dissented Miss Lansing. "Mr. Brewster, I see clearly the cause of all your troubles. Please give me the address of Miss Worthington."

"You are going—" began Clyde.

"To clear up everything. Roger, I will report at your office. Wait there till I return. Mr. Brewster, too. I think I shall have some happy news for him."

The impetuous sprite flitted away on her mission. An hour later she was ushered into a room in the Worthington home, where May sat.

"You—you!" began May, arising with flashing eyes as she recognized the young lady whom she suspected of being the cause of all her unhappiness and grief.

"Yes, I have come from Mr. Brewster," announced Miss Lansing boldly. "There has been a dreadful mistake and I have come to you to explain it."

"None is necessary. I wish no further communication with Mr. Brewster," said May, severely, but at the point of tears.

"I shall change your mind," declared Miss Lansing. "My dear—May looked positively tigerish—"Mr. Brewster is just the truest, most innocent of lovers and his heart is nearly broken at the results of your frightful mistake."

"Mine!" gasped May, frantically.

"Yes, dear. It is the exchange of those two overcoats that made all the trouble. A week ago Mr. Payne, whom I am to marry in two weeks, asked me to send him a little love note to cherish. I did so. It was in a pocket of his overcoat, and when Mr. Brewster called on you it must have fallen out."

"Oh! Are you sure? Are you sure this is really true?" besought May, in tears now.

"Never fear, dear, it will all be proved to you. You poor, foolish girl! Send for this fond lover of yours before he goes wild with all his troubles."

"Here she comes!" announced Payne to distracted Clyde, two hours later. "Well, my dear?" he interrogated his fiancée.

"She is expecting you," said Miss Lansing to Clyde.

"You mean it!" he cried, springing to his feet with almost an exultant cry.

"Certainly," nodded Miss Lansing in her sprightly way. "She has promised to come to our wedding."

"Oh, you are a magician!" cried the overjoyed Clyde.

He shook hands with both of them. He started up to rush away to his inamorata, like some radiant schoolboy. He grabbed for his coat, as he thought, "Hold on there!" challenged Payne, with a great, jolly laugh. "That's my coat!"

Clyde dropped the garment in question as though it was red hot.

"Trouble enough already from that, eh?" roared Payne.

"Yes, but it's all mended now!" fairly cheered Clyde Brewster, and bounded for the street—and May!

Primitive Fire-Lights.

Many people believe that the original method of finding fire was by the simple friction of two pieces of wood. The "stick-and-groove" method, in which a blunt-pointed stick is run along a groove in a piece of wood lying on the ground, is used by the Tahitians, who by this means can produce fire in a few seconds. The aborigines of Australia used a stick eight or nine inches long which they revolved with their hands on another flat piece, using as much pressure as possible. Many improvements upon this simple method are found, as that on the principle of the carpenter's brace used by the Gauchos of the South American pampas; the Eskimos' method of winding a cord round the drill, so as by pulling the two ends alternately to make it revolve very rapidly; the Sioux bow-drill, in which a bow with a loose cord is substituted for a simple cord; and the pump-drill, familiar in English tool-shops, and used by the Iroquois to generate fire.

High or Low Forehead?

Says Almost-Every-Woman to her beauty specialist: "Do you consider my forehead high or low?"

Both pairs of eyes are on the smooth, white forehead with its frame of rippling hair mirrored in the cheval glass before them.

"Well," replies the specialist, "a high forehead is a sign of intellect and—"

"Oh, mine is so high, is it not?" interrupts Almost-Every-Woman, measuring with scrutinizing eyes from eyebrow to hairline.

"A low one," continues the beauty doctor, "is a sign of beauty!"

"No, really," again interrupts Almost-Every-Woman. "Really mine is now—oh, surely, truly it is—low, isn't it?" eagerly, impatiently she questions.

"Oul, oul, madame, very, very low," is the reply.

IN THE HOME

VERSE FOR THIS WEEK

Father! replenish with Thy grace
This longing heart of mine;
Make it Thy quiet dwelling-place,
Thy sacred inmost shrine.
—Jonathan Scheffer.

RHUBARB AND ORANGE MOLD

Delicious Mixture Suitable for Service at Home Table or for Guests' Luncheon.

Wipe the stalks of one or two bundles of rhubarb with a damp cloth, trim the ends, and cut the stalks into short pieces. Put the fruit into an earthenware fireproof pan, or else into a well tinned copper saucepan, add about two ounces of loaf sugar to each pound of fruit, and a half pint of water, also the pulp of two sweet oranges, two thinly cut strips of lemon rind, and half a teaspoonful of ground ginger. Let the whole simmer gently until the fruit is quite soft. Remove the lemon rind, and rub the remainder through a fine sieve. Soak in water some gelatin, allowing about one-half ounce to each pint of fruit pulp, then drain, dissolve it, and strain the gelatin into the fruit pulp. Reheat with a gill of milk, add, if liked, a few drops of liquid carmine or cochineal, also a little cream, then pour into a previous wetted mold, and let it set in a cold place. To serve, immerse the mold in lukewarm water for a second or two, and turn out quickly on to a cold dish. Serve plain, or else with some custard poured over it.

Banana and Strawberry Whip.
Crush one banana and put it through a strainer. Crush a dozen strawberries. Whip the white of one egg until stiff, add from two to four table-spoonfuls of powdered sugar or sugar to taste, then whip in the crushed banana. Stopping right here in our recipe, we have an imitation whipped cream, which we may flavor a little if we choose, then serve over strawberries, which must first be sprinkled with sugar, as when regular cream is added.

But going on we may add the strawberries and get that pink shade which makes strawberry ice cream at this time of year so attractive to the eye. This whip is pretty served in tall cold glasses, with a strawberry on top. But if we are desirous of having something with more body and contrast we may serve it over broken up marshmallows in compote glasses, or we may garnish the whip alone with pieces of marshmallow shaped in petals.

Favorite Potato Recipes.

Potatoes Fried Whole.—When nearly boiled enough, put small potatoes into a saucepan with butter or beef drippings. Shake them about to prevent burning until they are brown and crisp. Drain them from the fat. It will be an improvement if they are floured, dipped in beaten egg and rolled in fine bread crumbs and then fried.

Potatoes for Breakfast.—Cut cold boiled potatoes in slices lengthwise, dip them in beaten egg and put on a buttered pie plate in the oven. As soon as they are brown and hot, serve.

Peach Custard.
Cook in double boiler one pint of milk, the beaten yolks of three eggs, one-half cupful of sugar, pinch of salt and one teaspoonful of vanilla, or any flavoring preferred. Put halves of canned peaches in sherberts, and when mixture is cold pour it over them and chill. Pile whipped cream over all, garnish with candied cherries, or any preserved fruit, such as strawberries, blackberries, cherries, etc.

Steak Loaf.

One pound hamburger steak. Roll four crackers, one-half teaspoonful salt and a big one-half teaspoonful of sage; mix these well. Add two eggs, beaten, and one-half cupful of cream, whipped thin and put thin slices of bacon on pork on bottom and top.

Chinese Salad.

Equal parts of cold macaroni cut into small bits, minced ham, lobster and cold boiled carrot, chopped. Mix well and add some good mayonnaise dressing, with a few capers.

TO MAMMOTH CAVE

Wednesday, June 16. A personally conducted three-day's tour. Round trip railroad fare from Berea, $5.65. Rooms reserved at Cave Hotel, including board and trips in the Cave for $6.50, making the total cost $12.15. Special coach on regular train at 3:55 a.m. Free band concert on Echo river. Write or phone L. & N. agent. ad-50.

TOMMIE'S BIRTHDAY.

Tommie wanted to go fishing, but his mother told him he must wait until someone could go with him, she could not let him go alone, and that some day very soon she would go with him and he could fish all day. But Tommie was not satisfied, and right after dinner he told his mother he was going to play with the boys. But instead of that he went to a store and bought a hook and line, then he dug worms for bait and went to a pond he knew of to fish. He baited his hook and cast it into the pond. But the fish had no intention of biting that day.

Tommie soon grew tired of waiting, and thought he would go in wading. The water felt nice and cool and he did not notice where he was going. Suddenly he slipped and down he went, and then he was frightened, for how could he dry his clothes before it was time to go home. But he walked in the sun for a while, and by the time he reached home his outside clothes were nearly dry. He ate his supper and went to bed early. When his mother came to kiss him good-night she picked up his underclothing, which he had left on the floor, and found they were damp.

"How did you get so wet?" "Oh, one of the boys turned the hose on me," Tommie replied.

"You should have told me when you first came in the house; you may take cold," said his mother. She felt of his hair and found it was quite dry, so were his shoes and stockings, and though his mother did not mention it again she had her suspicions. The next week was Tommie's birthday, and while he was dressing that morning his mother told him she was to take him fishing, and that he would find his birthday present in the next room.

Tommie hurried in to see what it was, and found an outfit suit of khaki, which he had been wishing for, and beside it a fishing rod. Tommie felt guilty, but he thanked his mother, and told her it was just what he wanted. After breakfast a large basket was packed with sandwiches and other nice things to eat, and they went to the car. When they arrived there were several of Tommie's boy friends and their mothers. Tommie looked surprised.

"Where are you going?" he asked. They laughed and said they were going with him. It was a surprise picnic for Tommie's birthday.

They had a nice ride in the car along a country road and stopped at a grove. On the opposite side of the grove was a lake. They fished, and caught some, too. Then they went wading, and then such a nice luncheon as they had under the trees. Everybody had a good time. Tommie enjoyed it, but his conscience troubled him; he had disobeyed his mother and told her a wrong story. He was truly sorry, and it took away all the pleasure of his birthday picnic every time he thought of it. When they reached home everybody thanked Tommie for their good time, and he felt ashamed, for it was his mother who had given him all the pleasure, and he knew he had not treated her honestly. That night when his mother said good-night, Tommie said: "Mother, I have been a wicked boy." He was crying a little. "Tell mother all about it," she said, putting her arm around him. Tommie told her how he went fishing and wet his clothes, and then told her an untruth about it, and that now he was sorry and ashamed.

The Water Felt Nice and Cool.

His mother told him how bad she felt to know he had been untruthful, and that he had disobeyed her; that she had been very unhappy since the night he told her, for she felt then he did not get his clothes wet in the way he said. She asked him to promise never to deceive her again. Tommie promised and went to sleep, feeling happier than he had since he told the wrong story.

Too Busy.
Teacher—Have you ever seen bananas growing?
Archibald—No, ma'am; I never had time to stand and watch them.—Judge.

PRIZES

For Homespun Fair

Berea, June 9, 1915

Commencement Day

BEREA COLLEGE Offers Prizes for Skill in the Fireside Industries—Weavings, Baskets, Spinning, Dyeing, Whittling.

Spinning

Best spun Wool Yarns, each $2.50
Best spun Flax Yarns 2.50

Weaving

Best woven Coverlet 5.00
Best woven Counterpane 5.00
Best woven Old Fashioned Table Linen 2.50

Dyeing

Best Indigo Blue $2.50 for Best Walnut Brown best three Best Bark Yellow colors
Best Green
Best Madder Red

Baskets, Chairs, etc.

Best made Hip Baskets, melon shaped, hickory $2.00
Best made Willow Basket 1.00
Best made Rocking-chair with split bottom 2.00
Best made Common Chair with split bottom 2.00
Best made Sunbonnet 1.00
Best made Netted Fringe 1.00
Best made Quilt 2.50
Best made Shuttle 2.50
Best made Ax Handle 1.50

Any one interested write to Mrs. Anna Ernberg, Director of Fireside Industries, and let her know what you have to bring and if it will be for sale.

Come and get some of the Prizes!

USES FOR THE BLACKBERRY

Housewife Who Has Realized That They Are Worth Picking in the Hot Sun.

Was it worth while, after all, to spend hours gathering blackberries? The sun was so hot, the thorny briars so sharp and we were so tired!

Several months later I opened a quart jar of these berries for supper, and afterward, when I realized in how many ways it was served to our family of five, I felt fully repaid for the effort of gathering them.

I used half a cupful of juice for clear tapioca the day I needed a very simple dessert to follow a roast dinner. Heaped with whipped cream and served ice cold it was delicious.

Later in the week, needing a hot dessert because of a rather scant supply of cold meat, I turned again to the jar of blackberries. The recipe for delicious and economical pudding follows:

"One cupful of berries, two cupfuls of bread crumbs, two and a half cupfuls of milk, three tablespoonfuls of flour, three-quarters of a cupful of sugar and one tablespoonful of butter."

Two eggs would have made the pudding much better, but eggs were scarce and high, so I used the flour and more butter instead. Soak the crumbs in the milk, mix the flour smooth with milk and add it to the soaking crumbs; and then add the sugar, berries and part of the butter. Pour the mixture into a buttered baking dish, and dot the top with the remainder of the butter. Put in a slow oven three hours before dinner.—Mary M. Howell in the Country Gentleman.

AUSTRIAN NAVAL BASE DESTROYED

(Continued from Page 2.)

near Souchez. We made about fifty prisoners.

"In the region of the Labyrinth, after having repulsed a German counter attack, during the night of May 30-31, we organized the positions conquered."

"The enemy has made no infantry attacks and has only bombarded our front."

"At the edge of the LePreire wood there was a mild artillery exchange. During the course of fighting we captured two mitrailleuses."

RENDERING GAS HARMLESS

Allies Find Method to Destroy Effectiveness of German Bombs.

Paris, June 1.—Scientists, aiding the war bureau, have discovered, it is believed, a means whereby the poisonous gas filled bombs of the Germans can be rendered ineffective.

Representatives of the British office are here now purchasing hundreds of ordinary garden syringes, such as are used for watering flowers. With these it is planned to squirt hypo-sulphide of sodium into the air as the poisonous gases reach the lines. The soldiers are to be supplied with masks covering the head, soaked in some chemical which is coated with glycerine to prevent evaporation.

Daily Thought.
A wrongdoer is often a man that has left something undone, not always he that has done something.—Marcus Aurelius.

SIX DOORS

FOR ASPIRING YOUNG PEOPLE

1st Door—Berea's Vocational Schools

Training that adds to your money-earning power, combined with general education.

FOR YOUNG MEN—Agriculture, Carpentry, Bricklaying, Printing, Commerce and Telegraphy.

FOR YOUNG LADIES—Home Science, Dressmaking, Cooking, Nursing, Stenography and Typewriting.

2nd Door—Berea's Foundation School

General Education for those not far advanced, combined with some vocational training. No matter what your present advancement, we can put you with others like yourself and give chance for most rapid progress.

3rd Door—Berea's General Academy Course

For those who are not expecting to teach and who are not going thru College, but desire more general education. This is just the thing for those preparing for medical studies or other professions without a college course. It also gives the best general education for those who wish a good start in study and expect to carry it on by themselves.

4th Door—Berea's Normal School

This gives the very best training for those who expect to teach. Courses are so arranged that young people can teach through the summer and fall and attend school through the winter and spring, thus earning money to keep right on in their course of study. Read Dinsmore's great book, "How to Teach a District School."

5th Door—Berea's Preparatory Academy Course

This is the straight road to College—best training in Mathematics, Sciences, Languages, History and all preparatory subjects. The Academy is now Berea's largest department.

6th Door—Berea College

This is the crown of the whole Institution, and provides standard courses in all advanced subjects.

Questions Answered

BEREA, FRIEND OF WORKING STUDENTS. Berea College with its affiliated schools, is not a money-making institution. It requires certain fees, but it expends many thousands of dollars each year for the benefit of its students, giving highest advantages at lowest cost, and arranging as far as possible for students to earn and save in every way.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with careful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the best families and are earnest to do well and improve. For any who may be sick the College provides doctor and nurse without extra charge.

All except those with parents in Berea live in College buildings, and many assist in work of boarding hall, farm and shops, receiving valuable training and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except in winter it is expected that all will have a chance to earn a part of their expenses. Write to the Secretary before coming to secure employment.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, laundry, postage, books, etc., vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the best, but as students must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm wraps and underclothing, umbrellas and overshoes are necessary. THE CO-OPERATIVE STORE furnishes books, toilet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at cost.

LIVING EXPENSES are really below cost. The College asks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for cleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding and towels. For table board, without coffee or extras, $1.35 a week, in the fall, and $1.50 in winter; for furnished room, with fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 to 60 cents for each person.

SCHOOL FEES are two. First a "DOLLAR DEPOSIT," as guarantee for return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "INCIDENTAL FEE" to help on expenses for care of school buildings, hospital, library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or service of teachers—all our instruction is a free gift). The Incidental Fee for most students is $5.00 a term; in Academy and Normal $6.00 and $7.00 in Collegiate course.

PAYMENT MUST BE IN ADVANCE, incidental fee and room rent by the term, board by the half term. Installments are as follows:

	VOCATIONAL AND FOUNDATION SCHOOLS	ACADEMY AND NORMAL	COLLEGE
Incidental Fee	$ 5.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.00
Room	6.00	7.20	7.20
Board, 6 weeks	9.00	9.00	9.00
Amount due first of term	$20.00	$22.20	$23.20
Board 6 wks., due middle of term	9.00	9.00	9.00
Total for term	$29.00	$31.20	$32.20

	SPRING TERM
Incidental Fee	$ 5.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.00
Room	6.00	5.00	5.00
Board, 5 weeks	6.75	6.75	6.75
Amount due first of term	$15.75	$17.75	$18.75
Board, 5 weeks, due middle of term	6.75	6.75	6.75
Total for term	$22.50	$24.50	$25.50

*This does not include the dollar deposit nor money for books or laundry.

Special Expenses—Business.

	Winter	Spring	Total
Stenography and Typewriting	$12.00	$10.00	$22.00
Bookkeeping (brief course)	12.00	10.00	22.00
Bookkeeping (regular course)	6.00	5.00	11.00
Business course for students in other departments:
Stenography	9.00	7.50	16.50
Typewriting, with one hour's use of instrument	6.00	5.00	11.00
Com. Law, Com. Geog., Com. Arith., or Penmanship, each	1.80	1.50	3.30

In no case will special Business Fees exceed $15.00 per term.

Any able-bodied young man or young woman can get an education at Berea if there is the will to do so.

It is a great advantage to continue during winter and spring and have a full year of continuous study. Many young people waste time in the public schools going over and over the same things, when they might be improving much faster by coming to Berea and starting in on new studies with some of the best young men and women from other counties and states.

Applicants must bring or send a testimonial showing that they are above 15 years old, in good health, and of good character. This may be signed by some former Berea student or some reliable teacher or neighbor. The use of tobacco is strictly forbidden.

Fall term opens Sept. 15th. Get ready!

For information or friendly advice write to the Secretary,

MARSHALL E. VAUGHN, Berea, Ky

East Kentucky Correspondence News You Get Nowhere Else

No correspondence published unless signed in full by the writer. The name is not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Write plainly.

ANNOUNCEMENT

WE are authorized to announce R. L. MOORE of Marion, Ky., as a candidate for office of Treasurer of the State of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party at the August primary. Ad-4

JACKSON COUNTY

McKee

McKee, May 31.—Marriage license issued since our last report: Jesse Carroll, age 21, Green Hall and Miss Etta B. Rader, age 15, Brazil.—A. J. Vaughn, age 40, Mildred and Miss Adeline Johnson, age 28, Gray Hawk.—Frank Hollinsworth, age 21, McKee and Miss Susan Adkins, age 17, Gray Hawk.—Rev. C. J. Sipple and Brother Oney of Lexington preached on the hill Sunday morning and evening.—The examination for teachers certificates held last Friday and Saturday was very hard. Only 14 passed out of 51 applicants.—Mrs. Kate Higginite is very sick at this time.—Doctor Anderson has been sick for the past week, but is able to go now.—Will Bennett and family were visiting at Maulden over Saturday and Sunday.—W. R. Amyx and wife were visiting home folks at Egypt over Saturday and Sunday.—R. M. Ward and family were visiting home folks and friends at Sturgeon last week.

Tyner

Tyner, May 28.—The good rains of the past week will insure a good crop of oats, and will greatly help the meadows and pastures.—Miss Fay Moore, who has been in Louisville, since December, has returned home.—R. A. Jones and wife of Fletcher was visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nantz the past week.—Married last Monday, Miss Adaline Adkins of Gray Hawk to Andy Vaughn of Mildred. We wish them a pleasant journey thru life.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones a boy. A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox.—John Dunigan lost a good saddle horse last week.

Parrot

Parrot, May 29.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gabbard, May 26, a girl.—Henry Ingram was through here buying cattle and sheep last week.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gabbard a girl. It was named Hazel.—A girl was also born to Mrs. Bettie Shelton a few days ago.—Elbert Lakes was at this place on business one day this week.—Lucy Price has been very sick for the past few days.—Scott Tussey of Middle Fork attended church at this place Sunday.

Sand Gap

Sand Gap, May 31.—Several from this place took the teachers examination at McKee the 21st and 22nd. The examination was harder than usual.—Memorial Services were conducted at the Durham Grave Yard yesterday by the Rev. Templeton and Rev. Stanifer. A large number of people attended the services.

Doublelick

Doublelick, May 29.—Farmers are getting behind with their work on account of so much rainy weather.—John Martin made a business trip to Wildie Thursday.—Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hurley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gatlin.—Mrs. Katherine McCollum visited her daughter, Mrs. Ollie Callahan Thursday night.—C. H. Wertenberger, managing editor of the Citizen and Chester Gabbard were in our vicinity the latter part of the week calling on their correspondents.—J. F. Dees was calling at Perry McCollum's Saturday night.

Sand Gap

Sand Gap, May 31.—Mr. Wertenberger, the managing editor of The Citizen, and his guide, Mr. Gabbard, were pleasant visitors at this place last week.—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster of Latonia attended the memorial here yesterday.—The charitable stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clemmons, and left a little girl.—They christened her Matilda Florence.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Williams and Jesse Durham attended memorial exercises at Kerby Knob, yesterday.—Miss Jane Martin, of Clover Bottom, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sallie Martin, this week.—Canada Sparks has enlisted in the United States Army for three years.—Mrs. Ella Sparks visited her mother, Mrs. Bettie Martin, Monday.—We all like the story in The Citizen.

MADISON COUNTY

Kingston

Kingston, May 24.—After a lingering illness of several weeks, Joe Maupin was operated on last Thursday and was found to have cancer of the stomach. It had gone too long for the operation to do any good. He died Saturday morning, May 22, leaving a widow and one son, who lives in New Mexico. The burial took place in the Richmond Cemetery, Sunday afternoon.—Kingston was visited by another hail and wind storm accompanied by a down-pour of rain, Sunday afternoon. Gardens were badly damaged by the hail.—W. T. Eager returned from Beattyville last week.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson were the guests of the former's father, Lewis Sandlin, Sunday.—Evan Adams is at McRoberts on business.—The Misses E. K. Corwin, Mabel and Lelia Flannery, Rev. Corwin and wife of New Jersey were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Flannery one day last week.—Rev. and Mrs. Corwin left Richmond on the fast train for Norfolk, and other points in Virginia.—Miss Ethel Flannery is visiting Miss Olga Roesche at Carrollton.—Miss Vena Dean and Gordon Terrill took the teacher's examination in Richmond Friday and Saturday.

Coyle

Coyle, May 31.—We have been having plenty of rain for the last few days.—Mrs. William Weaver of Columbus, O., is visiting her mother, Mrs. D. C. Rice.—The Misses Nettie and Cardon Powell attended the Decoration at Red Hill Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rice were in Richmond, Saturday.—Mrs. James Powell, who has been very sick for the last two months, is some better at this writing.—James Dozier's family has measles.—Mr. and Mrs. Arch Murray were visiting at Dreyfus, Sunday.

Walnut Meadow

Walnut Meadow, May 30.—Mr. Green of Rineville, traveling salesman for a furniture company, is visiting his father and mother.—Dillard Green bought a nice mare and colt at a sale for $150.—Mrs. Jesse Vaughn, who was operated on at Berea Hospital, is at her home much improved.—Mrs. W. O. Anderson, who has been sick, is improving slowly.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ogg are visiting relatives and friends in Rockcastle County.—Luther and Casper Ogg attended the Masons' march and decoration at Berea, Sunday.—Crops are looking good now after the rains.

Speedwell

Speedwell, May 31.—Carl Todd, a Berea student, is at home now.—Miss Lizzie Berry, age 85, died yesterday morning. She will be laid to rest in the Richmond cemetery. The bereaved family have our deepest sympathy.—A revival tent meeting is going on at Brassfield.—Most everybody from this place attended the Decoration at Red Hill.—Misses Beulah Kidwell, Bertha Todd and the Messrs. John Combs and Frank Walton went to the strawberry patch near Waco yesterday. They are certainly plentiful in that part of the country.

Blue Lick

Blue Lick, May 29.—White Station defeated Blue Lick at Johnson Park in a one sided contest. The White Station boys began a batting rally in the third inning that couldn't be checked. Maupin is still twirling matty style ball, this being his fifth victory. Holland was replaced by Clark in the sixth. Hits off Holland 12, off Clark 6, hits off Maupin 10, struck out by Maupin 7, by Holland 6 Clark 3. Batteries White Station, Maupin and Harrison. Blue Lick, Holland, Clark and Flannery. Umpires, Evans and Palmer.

Score by innings:

	White Station	Blue Lick
0	3	4
1	0	1
2	5	0
3	1	0
4	0	0
5	1	0
6	0	0
7	0	0
8	0	0
9	0	0
Total	10	5

Standing of teams:

Team	Games Played	Games Won	Games Lost	Per Cent
White Station	5	5	0	1000
Point Leavel	3	1	2	250
Paint Lick	3	1	2	250
Blue Lick	3	0	3	000

Next games Blue Lick at Paint Lick, White Station at Point Leavel.

GARRARD COUNTY

Paint Lick

Paint Lick, May 29.—A large crowd from Berea attended church at Walnut Sunday. The revival meeting at Walnut conducted by Rev. D. W. Brown closed Wednesday night.—Marvin Kelley from Berea was the week end guest of his cousin, Logan West.—Miss Stella West, who has been very sick is some better now.—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thompson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. West Sunday.—W. C. Wynn of this place is rebuilding his house.—Miss Wesley Morgan, who has been visiting friends and relatives here has returned to her home in Clay County.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

Boone

Boone, May 31.—After several days of wet weather things are looking fine.—Everybody is badly behind with their work.—We had some fine preaching at Fair View Church Saturday and Sunday by an aged minister, who had been away for fourteen years.—W. M. Kirby's wife is still improving.—Miss Mannie Grant left here yesterday for St. Paul.—Dr. Robertson was called to the home of N. L. Payne last week to see his baby, who was suffering with asthma.—The contractors for taking down the Boone Tunnel or now at work. Several of the citizens here have secured jobs.—The people are all well pleased over the Dixie Highway and are giving honor to whom honor is due for the great work in planning the Eastern Route.

CLAY COUNTY

Burning Springs

Burning Springs, May 29.—The Rev. C. F. Chestnut assisted by the Reverends Morgan and Bales filled his appointment last Saturday and Sunday.—E. W. Hubbard has built a two story front porch, and G. W. McCreary is having the upper story of his house completed to accommodate his hotel guests.—Miss Viola Jones, a popular teacher, who has been in Georgia, returned to take the examination.—Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Howard of Laurel Creek spent last Sunday with Mrs. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Rawlings.—Miss Mary Pader, as student of Anville Academy, is spending her vacation with her parents here.—J. G. White, a student of the Normal Department of Berea College, came home to get a school last week but returned in a few days.—Will Jentry and family of Chestnutburg visited at the home of Doctor Webb recently.—Roy Hornsby, a student of the Louisville school of Pharmacy, is working in a drug store in Detroit, Mich., during his vacation.—Much sympathy among the many friends of Mrs. Clark's family about here is expressed for his sad and sudden death.—There were eighty-six in the recent examining class, and forty-seven failed. Thirteen made first class certificates.

OWSLEY COUNTY

Earnestville

Earnestville, May 31.—There are great grievances among the farmers of Owsley County on account of the great damages done by high waters last week.—Mr. Childs' water mill at Travelers Rest was swept away. The damages done will amount to many thousands of dollars.—We are having a fine Sunday school at Traveler's Rest school house every Sunday, opening at 10 o'clock a.m. Mrs. Matilda Cecil is superintendent.—The county examination that has just been held for teachers' certificates was extremely hard. Out of 36 applicants there was only one first class certificate, 13 second class certificates issued and 22 failures. We trust the next examination questions for the June examination will be more practical.

ALL-DAY MEETING AT KERBY KNOB

The following persons from Berea attended the all-day meeting at Kerby Knob, last Sunday, May 30, and report a very profitable and pleasant time: Rev. C. S. Knight and his sister, Mrs. Raner; Rev. Howard Hudson; Miss Anna Powell and her sister, Elizabeth; Nannie Powell; Mr. and Mrs. William Powell; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huff; Mary Kirby, Lloyd Click; Mrs. Alma Watts; and Mr. D. M. Click. Rev. Knight preached the Memorial sermon in the forenoon which filled every one with a stronger feeling of true patriotism and enthusiasm. The old soldier's heart was made to throb with joy and with sorrow as the scenes of the sixties were again brought before him. All were made to rejoice at the thought of our own America's condition of peace and prosperity at this time and plainly showed that a nation must suffer for its unrighteousness as well as individuals. After the serving of a beautiful basket dinner Rev. Hudson preached a most inspiring sermon on "Why and Where we Fail in the Christian Life," closing with a ten minutes testimonial service. Many interesting and helpful testimonies were given for Christ. The closing exercise of the day

Gov. James B. McCreary, President

J. L. Watkins, Treasurer

C. H. Berryman, Vice President

J. M. Lassing, General Counsel

Jo C. Van Meter, Secretary

Kentucky Rural Credit Association

INCORPORATED

Fayette National Bank Building, Lexington, Ky.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

James B. McCreary
C. H. Berryman
J. L. Watkins
J. M. Lassing

DIRECTORS

JAMES B. MCCREARY, Frankfort Ky.
Governor of Kentucky.

C. H. BERRYMAN, Lexington, Ky.
Farmer and Manager of the J. B. Haggin Elmdorf Stock Farm.

J. L. WATKINS, Lexington, Ky.
Director of Phoenix-Third National Bank.

Vice-President and Treasurer
Henry Clay Fire Insurance Co.

Vice-President of the Smith Watkins Darnaby Hardware & Implement Company.
Director Phoenix Hotel Co.

J. M. LASSING, Newport, Ky.
Attorney.

Ex-Judge Court of Appeals.
President of the First National Bank, Latonia, Ky.

Vice-President of the Louisville Home Telephone Company.

MORGAN O. HUGHES, Bowling Green, Ky.
Farmer.

Banker and Government Lecturer on Agriculture.

JO C. VAN METER, Lexington, Ky.
Farmer.

Secretary and Treasurer of the Bradley & Gilbert Publishing Company, Louisville, Ky.

T. C. RANKIN, Lancaster, Ky.
Farmer and Banker.

THOS. J. BIGSTAFF, Mt. Sterling, Ky.
Farmer and Breeder.

Ex-President of the State Farmers' Institute.

ROBERT H. SCOTT, Paducah, Ky.
State Senator, Author of Bill introduced in last General Assembly to create a State Rural Credit Association.

L. L. DORSEY, Anchorage, Ky.
Farmer and Live Stock Breeder.

Ex-member of State Board of Agriculture.

FORREST BUTTS, Carrollton, Ky.
Farmer and Coal Operator.

P. M. WITT, Newport, Ky.
President of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company.

WM. H. GILTNER, Eminence, Ky.
Farmer and Live Stock Breeder.

GEORGE D. HOPKINS, Attorney.

J. L. ZARING, Shelbyville, Ky.
Banker and Farmer.

was a genuine revival sermon, by Rev. Knight, on the subject, "Boast Not Thyself of Tomorrow." That "Procrastination is the thief of time" was clearly proved by the many striking illustrations he gave. All were plainly shown that to make a life, was greater than to make a living, and that to live for Christ was better than to die for Christ.

IN OUR OWN STATE

(Continued from Page 1.)

class of 1916 will camp at the same place, studying the trees of the southern Appalachians and making plans for the care of timber in a tract in the vicinity of Quicksand.

Hazard to Have Central Power Station

Plans are now being perfected to build a large central power station at Hazard. The plant will supply power to all the coal operations in the field. Messrs. D. Terpstra of Norton, Va., and E. C. Lilley of Bluefield, W. Va., are at the back of the project. They represent large financial interests that have holdings in this territory and will see it through. Local capitalists are lending their support. All concerned are interested in having this plant there, for it is one of the greatest things that has yet gone to Hazard.

Magazine Issued by Tax League.

The State Tax League, which now comprises several thousand members in all parts of Kentucky, has just gotten out the first number of a monthly magazine in the interest of taxpayers and to explain the operation of the tax laws in Kentucky and other states. There are articles on the Constitution, tax amendment and state tax league, with short essays on the taxing of tools, money and merchandise, classified taxes and several illustrative sketches showing up the inequalities of the present law. For so dry a subject as taxation is to the average reader, the editors have shown considerable

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

Mt. Sterling to be Congratulated

At midnight, on May the 25th., the city of Mt. Sterling, as a result of a recent election, went dry, ten saloons closed their doors at that hour. This is the first time in twenty-five years that Mt. Sterling has been without saloons and the good people of that place are rejoicing to be able to live in a dry town.

Bell County Believes in Good Roads

The officials and good citizens of Bell County are to be congratulated for the interest they are manifesting in good roads. Judge T. J. Asher, last week, under order of the Fiscal Court, purchased another traction steam shovel, which is to be used in building roads. This is the second steam shovel purchased by the County. They find the shovel to be a great money-saver in the construction of roads. The County will also purchase another six-ton motor truck for the hauling of stone. The rock-crusher will be in operation, crushing stone by the middle of the month.

Every other county in eastern Kentucky should catch the good-roads fever and follow the example of Bell County.

There Is No Question

but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a Renall Dyspepsia Tablet before and after each meal. 25c a box. Porter-Moore Drug Co., Inc.

UNITED STATES MAY INTERVENE

FORCE MAY BE USED BY PRESIDENT WILSON TO AID THE FAMINE VICTIMS.

Intervention Said To Be Certainty Unless Food Gets To the Hungry Mexicans.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Washington.—President Wilson will intervene in Mexico unless there is a quick change in the present intolerable condition that exists in that country. Unless the warring factions in Mexico allow the prompt distribution of foodstuffs to the starving women and children in that country, President Wilson will send the armed forces of the United States to see that it is done. A statement to this effect will be issued by the president within the next two or three days. This was the construction placed here on a brief announcement made by the president shortly after he had affixed his signature to an appeal for contributions of foodstuffs from the American people to relieve the famine conditions now prevailing in Mexico.

Mineral Wells, Texas.—Word was received by W. M. Byrd, an American of the execution of his son, W. M. Byrd, Jr., 30 years old, near Tampico, by Mexican soldiers. The information was contained in a delayed letter and it is presumed the execution took place a month ago. Whether Carranza or Villa officers killed Byrd is not known.

Kentucky History in Outline

Correlates with U. S. History
Price 25 Cents
Miss Maggie Reynolds
Box 46 Nicholasville, Ky.

Use Potts' Graham Flour For Health

A Flour with that good old time flavor

LET THE WOMEN DO THE WORK

But don't let her do it without a Canner. How long, old man, would you can without a good canner? For $3.00 you can save your wife a lot of labor and trouble and have her put up for you a lot of good things to eat this winter.

$3.00 only

BEREA SCHOOL OF ROOFING

Phone 7 or 181-2 Henry Lengfeller, Mgr. Berea, Ky.

East Kentucky Correspondence News You Get Nowhere Else

No correspondence published unless signed in full by the writer. The name is not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Write plainly.

ANNOUNCEMENT

WE are authorized to announce R. L. MOORE of Marion, Ky., as a candidate for office of Treasurer of the State of Kentucky, subject to the action of the Republican party, at the August primary. Ad-4

JACKSON COUNTY

McKee

McKee, May 31.—Marriage license issued since our last report: Jesse Carrol, age 21, Green Hall and Miss Etta B. Rader, age 15, Brazil.—A. J. Vaughn, age 40, Mildred and Miss Adeline Johnson, age 28, Gray Hawk.—Frank Hollinsworth, age 21, McKee and Miss Susan Adkins, age 17, Gray Hawk.—Rev. C. J. Sipple and Brother Oney of Lexington preached on the hill Sunday morning and evening.—The examination for teachers certificates held last Friday and Saturday was very hard. Only 14 passed out of 51 applicants.—Mrs. Kate Hignite is very sick at this time.—Doctor Anderson has been sick for the past week, but is able to go now.—Will Bennett and family were visiting at Maulden over Saturday and Sunday.—W. R. Amyx and wife were visiting home folks at Egypt over Saturday and Sunday.—R. M. Ward and family were visiting home folks and friends at Sturgeon last week.

Tyner

Tyner, May 28.—The good rains of the past week will insure a good crop of oats, and will greatly help the meadows and pastures.—Miss Fay Moore, who has been in Louisville, since December, has returned home.—R. A. Jones and wife of Fletcher was visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Nantz the past week.—Married last Monday, Miss Adeline Adkins of Gray Hawk to Andy Vaughn of Mildred. We wish them a pleasant journey thru life.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Jones a boy. A girl was born to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fox.—John Dunigan lost a good saddle horse last week.

Parrot

Parrot, May 29.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gabbard, May 26, a girl.—Henry Ingram was through here buying cattle and sheep last week.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gabbard a girl. It was named Hazel.—A girl was also born to Mrs. Betty Shelton a few days ago.—Elbert Lakes was at this place on business one day this week.—Lucy Price has been very sick for the past few days.—Scott Tussey of Middle Fork attended church at this place Sunday.

Sand Gap

Sand Gap, May 31.—Several from this place took the teachers examination at McKee the 21st and 22nd. The examination was harder than usual.—Memorial Services were conducted at the Durham Grave Yard yesterday by the Rev. Tompleton and Rev. Stanifer. A large number of people attended the services.

Doublelick

Doublelick, May 29.—Farmers are getting behind with their work on account of so much rainy weather.—John Martin made a business trip to Wildie Thursday.—Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Hurley spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gallif.—Mrs. Katherine McCollum visited her daughter, Mrs. Ollie Callahan Thursday night.—C. H. Wertheberger, managing editor of the Citizen and Chester Gabbard were in our vicinity the latter part of the week calling on their correspondents.—J. F. Dees was calling at Perry McCollum's Saturday night.

Sand Gap

Sand Gap, May 31.—Mr. Wertheberger, the managing editor of The Citizen, and his guide, Mr. Gabbard, were pleasant visitors at this place last week.—Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Webster of Latonia attended the memorial here yesterday.—The charitable stork visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Clemmons, and left a little girl.—They christened her Matilda Florence.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. W. Williams and Jesse Durham attended memorial exercises at Kerby Knob, yesterday.—Miss Jane Martin, of Clover Bottom, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Sallie Martin, this week.—Canada Sparks has enlisted in the United States Army for three years.—Mrs. Ella Sparks visited her mother, Mrs. Bettie Martin, Monday.—We all like the story in The Citizen.

MADISON COUNTY

Kingston

Kingston, May 24.—After a lingering illness of several weeks, Joe Maupin was operated on last Thursday and was found to have cancer of the stomach. It had gone too long for the operation to do any good. He died Saturday morning, May 22, leaving a widow and one son, who lives in New Mexico. The burial took place in the Richmond Cemetery, Sunday afternoon.—Kingston was visited by another hail and wind storm accompanied by a down-pour of rain, Sunday afternoon. Gardens were badly damaged by the hail.—W. T. Eager returned from Beattyville last week.—Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hudson were the guests of the former's father, Lewis Sandlin, Sunday.—Evan Adams is at McRoberts on business.—The Misses E. K. Corwin, Mabel and Lelia Flannery, Rev. Corwin and wife of New Jersey were the pleasant guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Flannery one day last week.—Rev. and Mrs. Corwin left Richmond on the fast train for Norfolk, and other points in Virginia.—Miss Ethel Flannery is visiting Miss Olga Roesche at Carrollton.—Miss Vena Dean and Gordon Terrill took the teacher's examination in Richmond Friday and Saturday.

Coyle

Coyle, May 31.—We have been having plenty of rain for the last few days.—Mrs. William Weaver of Columbus, O., is visiting her mother, Mrs. D. C. Rice.—The Misses Nettie and Cardon Powell attended the Decoration at Red Hill Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Rice were in Richmond, Saturday.—Mrs. James Powell, who has been very sick for the last two months, is some better at this writing.—James Dozier's family has measles.—Mr. and Mrs. Arch Murray were visiting at Dreyfus, Sunday.

Walnut Meadow

Walnut Meadow, May 30.—Mr. Green of Pineville, traveling salesman for a furniture company, is visiting his father and mother.—Dillard Green bought a nice mare and colt at a sale for $150.—Mrs. Jesse Vaughn, who was operated on at Berea Hospital, is at her home much improved.—Mrs. W. O. Anderson, who has been sick, is improving slowly.—Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ogg are visiting relatives and friends in Rockcastle County.—Luther and Casper Ogg attended the Masons' march and decoration at Berea, Sunday.—Crops are looking good now after the rains.

Speedwell

Speedwell, May 31.—Carl Todd, a Berea student, is at home now.—Miss Lizzie Berry, age 85, died yesterday morning. She will be laid to rest in the Richmond cemetery. The bereaved family have our deepest sympathy.—A revival tent meeting is going on at Brassfield.—Most everybody from this place attended the Decoration at Red Hill.—Misses Beulah Kidwell, Bertha Todd and the Messrs. John Combs and Frank Walton went to the strawberry patch near Waco yesterday. They are certainly plentiful in that part of the country.

Blue Lick

Blue Lick, May 29.—White Station defeated Blue Lick at Johnson Park in a one sided contest. The White Station boys began a batting rally in the third inning that couldn't be checked. Maupin is still twirling matty style ball, this being his fifth victory. Holland was replaced by Clark in the sixth. Hits off Holland 12, off Clark 6, hits off Maupin 10, struck out by Maupin 7, by Holland 6, Clark 3. Batteries White Station, Maupin and Harrison. Blue Lick, Holland, Clark and Flannery. Umpires, Evans and Palmer.

Score by innings:

	White Station	Blue Lick
1	0	0
2	0	0
3	0	0
4	0	0
5	0	0
6	0	0
7	0	0
8	0	0
9	0	0
Total	0	0

GARRARD COUNTY

Paint Lick

Paint Lick, May 29.—A large crowd from Berea attended church at Walnetta Sunday. The revival meeting at Walnetta conducted by Rev. D. W. Brown closed Wednesday night.—Marvin Kelley from Berea was the week end guest of his cousin, Logan West.—Miss Stella West, who has been very sick is some better now.—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thompson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. West Sunday.—W. C. Wynn of this place is rebuilding his house.—Miss Wesley Morgan, who has been visiting friends and relatives here has returned to her home in Clay County.

ROCKCASTLE COUNTY

Boone

Boone, May 31.—After several days of wet weather things are looking fine.—Everybody is badly behind with their work.—We had some fine preaching at Fair View Church Saturday and Sunday by an aged minister, who had been away for fourteen years.—W. M. Kirby's wife is still improving.—Miss Mannie Grant left here yesterday for St. Paul.—Dr. Robertson was called to the home of N. L. Payne last week to see his baby, who was suffering with asthma.—The contractors for taking down the Boone Tunnel or now at work. Several of the citizens here have secured jobs.—The people are all well pleased over the Dixie Highway and are giving honor to whom honor is due for the great work in planning the Eastern Route.

CLAY COUNTY

Burning Springs

Burning Springs, May 29.—The Rev. C. F. Chestnut assisted by the Reverends Morgan and Bales filled his appointment last Saturday and Sunday.—E. W. Hubbard has built a two story front porch, and G. W. McCreary is having the upper story of his house completed to accommodate his hotel guests.—Miss Viola Jones, a popular teacher, who has been in Georgia, returned to take the examination.—Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Howard of Laurel Creek spent last Sunday with Mrs. Howard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Rawlings.—Miss Mary Rader, as student of Annville Academy, is spending her vacation with her parents here.—J. G. White, a student of the Normal Department of Berea College, came home to get a school last week but returned in a few days.—Will Jentry and family of Chestnutburg visited at the home of Doctor Webb recently.—Roy Hornsby, a student of the Louisville school of Pharmacy, is working in a drug store in Detroit, Mich., during his vacation.—Much sympathy among the many friends of Mrs. Clark's family about here is expressed for his sad and sudden death.—There were eighty-six in the recent examining class, and forty-seven failed. Thirteen made first class certificates.

OWSLEY COUNTY

Earnestville

Earnestville, May 31.—There are great grievances among the farmers of Owsley County on account of the great damages done by high waters last week.—Mr. Childs' water mill at Travelers Rest was swept away. The damages done will amount to many thousands dollars.—We are having a fine Sunday school at Traveler's Rest school house every Sunday, opening at 10 o'clock a.m. Mrs. Matilda Cecil is superintendent.—The county examination that has just been held for teachers' certificates was extremely hard. Out of 36 applicants there was only one first class certificate, 13 second class certificates issued and 22 failures. We trust the next examination questions for the June examination will be more practical.

ALL-DAY MEETING AT KERBY KNOB

The following persons from Berea attended the all-day meeting at Kerby Knob, last Sunday, May 30, and report a very profitable and pleasant time: Rev. C. S. Knight and his sister, Mrs. Rader; Rev. Howard Hudson; Miss Anna Powell and her sister, Elizabeth; Nannie Powell; Mr. and Mrs. William Powell; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Huff; Mary Kirby, Lloyd Click; Mrs. Alma Watts; and Mr. D. M. Click. Rev. Knight preached the Memorial sermon in the forenoon which filled every one with a stronger feeling of true patriotism and enthusiasm. The old soldier's heart was made to throb with joy and with sorrow as the scenes of the sixties were again brought before him. All were made to rejoice at the thought of our own America's condition of peace and prosperity at this time and plainly showed that a nation must suffer for its unrighteousness as well as individuals. After the serving of a beautiful basket dinner Rev. Hudson preached a most inspiring sermon on "Why and Where we Fail in the Christian Life," closing with a ten minutes testimonial service. Many interesting and helpful testimonies were given for Christ. The closing exercise of the day

Gov. James B. McCreary, President
J. L. Watkins, Treasurer

C. H. Berryman, Vice President

J. M. Lassing, General Counsel
Jo C. Van Meter, Secretary

Kentucky Rural Credit Association

INCORPORATED

Fayette National Bank Building, Lexington, Ky.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

James B. McCreary
C. H. Berryman
J. L. Watkins
J. M. Lassing

DIRECTORS

JAMES B. MCCREARY, Frankfort Ky.
Governor of Kentucky.

C. H. BERRYMAN, Lexington, Ky.
Farmer and Manager of the J. B. Haggin Elmdorf Stock Farm.

J. L. WATKINS, Lexington, Ky.
Director of Phoenix-Third National Bank.

Vice-President and Treasurer
Henry Clay Fire Insurance Co.
Vice-President of the Smith Watkins Darnaby Hardware & Implement Company.

Director Phoenix Hotel Co.
J. M. LASSING, Newport, Ky.
Attorney.

Ex-Judge Court of Appeals.
President of the First National Bank, Latonia, Ky.
Vice-President of the Louisville Home Telephone Company.

MORGAN O. HUGHES, Bowling Green, Ky.
Farmer.

Banker and Government Lecturer on Agriculture.
JO C. VAN METER, Lexington, Ky.
Farmer.

Secretary and Treasurer of the Bradley & Gilbert Publishing Company, Louisville, Ky.

T. C. RANKIN, Lancaster, Ky.
Farmer and Banker.

THOS. J. BIGSTAFF, Mt. Sterling, Ky.
Farmer and Breeder.

Ex-President of the State Farmers' Institute.
ROBERT H. SCOTT, Paducah, Ky.
State Senator, Author of Bill introduced in last General Assembly to create a State Rural Credit Association.

L. L. DORSEY, Anchorage, Ky.
Farmer and Live Stock Breeder.

Ex-member of State Board of Agriculture.
FORREST BUTTS, Carrollton, Ky.
Farmer and Coal Operator.

P. M. WITT, Newport, Ky.
President of the Central Savings Bank & Trust Company.

WM. H. GILTYNER, Eminence, Ky.
Farmer and Live Stock Breeder.

GEORGE D. HOPKINS, Attorney.

J. L. ZARING, Shelbyville, Ky.
Banker and Farmer.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

IN OUR OWN STATE
(Continued from Page 1.)

class of 1916 will camp at the same place, studying the trees of the southern Appalachians and making plans for the care of timber in a tract in the vicinity of Quicksand.

Hazard to Have Central Power Station
Plans are now being perfected to build a large central power station at Hazard. The plant will supply power to all the coal operations in the field. Messrs. D. Terpsira of Norton, Va., and E. C. Lilley of Bluefield, W. Va., are at the back of the project. They represent large financial interests that have holdings in this territory and will see it through. Local capitalists are lending their support. All concerned are interested in having this plant there, for it is one of the greatest things that has yet gone to Hazard.

Magazine Issued by Tax League.
The State Tax League, which now comprises several thousand members in all parts of Kentucky, has just gotten out the first number of a monthly magazine in the interest of taxpayers and to explain the operation of the tax laws in Kentucky and other states. There are articles on the Constitution, tax amendment and state tax league, with short essays on the taxing of tools, money and merchandise, classified taxes and several illustrative sketches showing up the inequalities of the present law. For so dry a subject as taxation is to the average reader, the editors have shown considerable ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

able ingenuity in selecting a variety of catchy topics, enlivened by poetic effusions and apt quotations from experts on taxation. The magazine is neatly printed and embellished with pictures of the state capitol, Henry Clay and Thomas Jefferson. Copies may be had free by addressing the State Tax League at Frankfort, Lexington, Crab Orchard, or Louisville.

UNITED STATES MAY INTERVENE

FORCE MAY BE USED BY PRESIDENT WILSON TO AID THE FAMINE VICTIMS.

Intervention Said To Be Certainty Unless Food Gets To the Hungry Mexicans.

Western Newspaper Union News Service.

Washington.—President Wilson will intervene in Mexico unless there is a quick change in the present intolerable condition that exists in that country. Unless the warring factions in Mexico allow the prompt distribution of foodstuffs to the starving women and children in that country, President Wilson will send the armed forces of the United States to see that it is done. A statement to this effect will be issued by the president within the next two or three days. This was the construction placed here on a brief announcement made by the president shortly after he had affixed his signature to an appeal for contributions of foodstuffs from the American people to relieve the famine conditions now prevailing in Mexico.

Mineral Wells, Texas.—Word was received by W. M. Byrd, an American of the execution of his son, W. M. Byrd, Jr., 30 years old, near Tampico, by Mexican soldiers. The information was contained in a delayed letter and it is presumed the execution took place a month ago. Whether Carranza or Villa officers killed Byrd is not known.

There Is No Question but that indigestion and the distressed feeling which always goes with it can be promptly relieved by taking a before and after each meal. 25c a box. Porter-Moore Drug Co., Inc.

Renall Dyspepsia Tablet

Kentucky History in Outline
Correlates with U. S. History
Price 25 Cents
Miss Maggie Reynolds
Box 46
Nicholasville, Ky.

LET THE WOMEN DO THE WORK

But don't let her do it without a Canner. How long, old man, would you can without a good canner? For $3.00 you can save your wife a lot of labor and trouble and have her put up for you a lot of good things to eat this winter.

$3.00 only

BEREA SCHOOL OF ROOFING

Phone 7 or 181-2 Henry Longfellow, Mgr. Berea, Ky.